WEATHER

The forecast today indicates cooler temperatures with cloudy skies and occasional showers or snow flurries.

TOM WICKER

On the American political scene there is evidence of a shift from organization to participation politics.

Top Of The Morning

Warren Progressive Merchants' "Hello Spring" sales promotion continues today through Saturday during regular store hours, with free gifts being offered bargain hunters.

WEATHER

Cloudy skies, cooler temperatures and rain mixed with snow is expected today with the high temperature reading in the upper 30's and the overnight low near 30. The forecast for Saturday suggests little change with slightly colder temperatures and snow flurries. The extended forecast through Wednesday indicates temperatures will average below normal with daily high readings in the lower 40's and overnight low temperatures in the upper 20's. Cold weather conditions will prevail over the weekend with snow flurries expected through the early part of next week. Winds today will be northerly 8 to 15 mph, increasing to 12 to 22 mph by tonight. Thursday's 7 a.m. report: high 48, low 40, there was .05 inches of precipitation recorded. The river level was 4.4 feet and rising.

KINZUA DAM REPORT

Pool level 1295.10 feet. Downstream temperature 38 degrees. The reading at the Warren gauge 4.39 feet.

WARREN COUNTY

The county has received a gift of five acres of prime recreation land near the Allegheny Reservoir from Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stewart of Akeley, to be developed and known as Hemlock Park.

John Johnson, principal of Sheffield elementary school, and David Vennberg, principal of Sugar Grove elementary school, have been named co-chairmen of the second annual Warren County TV Spelling Bee.

Commissioners of the Rouse Estate have approved a $384,000 budget for operations at the Rouse Home in Youngsville, representing an increase of $72,250 over the 1967 budget.

Warren County Planning Commission met in regular session Thursday night to discuss Holiday Inn's "Great Sign", a proposal by Holly Apartments for additional new family units, the master plan and the Youngsville-Warren Route 6 bypass.

A&P Food Store stated Thursday the new borough law on sign size would, if applied to the new A&P Store at the foot of Liberty st, handicap the company in competition with Acme Markets.

PENNSYLVANIA

Gov. Shafer says he can see no candidate who would be willing to contest former vice president Richard M. Nixon for the republican presidential nomination.

Officials testify that students who started a rent strike at Clarion State College had to move from their rooms several times because of a leaky roof.

Gov. Shafer indicates again that he has reservations about the $52 million teacher salary bill passed by the House last week.

SPORTS

Dick Thompson won his first match in the NCAA Wrestling Championships at Penn State yesterday, but was defeated in the evening round. After whipping Lee Castner of Syracuse, 8-3, Thompson fell to Joe Green of Bowling Green, 9-6 and was eliminated from further tournament action when Green lost later in the evening. Page 6.

From conversations heard around town, a capacity crowd is expected for tonight's exhibition basketball game between the Warren Lawmen and the New York Lawmen at 7:30 in the WAHS gym. Page 6.

The schedule for this weekend's "200" tournament has been announced by the Warren Woman's Bowling Association. Page 7.

Kansas cooled St. Peter's 58-46, and Dayton nipped Notre Dame, 76-74, in overtime to gain the finals in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament. Page 8.

NORTH WARREN YOUTH KILLED

State troopers Dennis Hoak, standing, and Mark Golomb, of the local substation, assist North Warren Volunteer Fire Department ambulance attendants as they remove one of two seriously injured youths from the wreckage of a car which crashed early Thursday morning on Weller rd., about two miles west of Warren. The crash claimed the life of Danny Kurt Phillips, 19, 241 Jackson st., North Warren. The driver of the car, Alan N. Culbertson, 19, 7 Brook st., Warren, was admitted to Warren General Hospital and later transferred to WCA Hospital, Jamestown, where he is listed in fair condition. A third occupant of the car, Alfred R. (Buddy) Erickson, 19, 323 Oneida ave., was listed in serious condition at Warren General Hospital, late Thursday night, by hospital officials. The death of Phillips brings to three the number of persons killed in highway accidents in Warren county this year. (Photo by Mahan)

One Killed, Two Injured In Early Morning Crash

One Warren County youth was killed and two others seriously injured in a one-car crash Thursday on Weller rd., about two miles west of Warren. The county recorded its third highway fatality for 1968 when Danny Kurt Phillips, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Phillips, 241 Jackson st., North Warren, was pronounced dead on arrival at Warren General Hospital at 3:15 a.m., according to state police of the local substation. Death was attributed to a broken neck, police said.

Two other 19-year-old youths, Alan N. Culbertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil K. Culbertson, 7 Brook st., Warren, and Alfred R. (Buddy) Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Erickson, 323 Oneida ave., were seriously injured. Culbertson, the driver of the vehicle, was admitted to Warren General Hospital and later transferred to WCA Hospital, Jamestown, N.Y., suffering a compound fracture of the right leg and fractures of an arm and his jaw.

He was listed in fair condition by hospital officials late Thursday.

Alfred R. (Buddy) Erickson, who according to police, allegedly sustained a broken back, was listed in serious condition at Warren General Hospital; however, hospital officials said late Thursday he was responding to treatment.

The accident occurred about 2:10 a.m., according to the investigating officer, Trooper Mark Golomb, as the car, traveling south at an excessive rate of speed, went out of control on a straight stretch of road, traveled about 145 feet and collided head-on with an oak tree.

Allies Make Big Effort To Seize Initiative

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces are sweeping through hills, plains and jungles in six wide-spread operations designed to seize the initiative from the enemy and so far 1,888 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have been killed, the U.S. Command disclosed Thursday.

The command lifted the veil of secrecy from five new drives ranging from near Saigon to the coastal plains 300 miles to the northeast. Some were begun two months ago, before the enemy on Jan. 31 went on the rampage in the Tet-lunar new year — offensive. Thousands of allied troops then had to be pulled out of the field to deal with the Viet Cong in the cities.

There are about 10,000 U.S. troops assigned to these operations, far short of the 50,000 American and South Vietnamese soldiers who since March 11 have been pressing the war's biggest drive around Saigon.

While the multiple drives may keep the enemy off balance, there obviously have been no major battles since the casualty figures are light for such a long operation.

The slackened pace of the fighting was reflected by the U.S. Command report that fewer American and enemy soldiers were killed last week than in previous weeks. The toll was 336 Americans and 3,197 enemy killed, compared with 509 and 5,168 last week.

The five newly disclosed American drives have killed 799 of the enemy. The big push around Saigon has accounted for 1,089 more.

LBJ Insists

Peace Will Be Won With Honor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Thursday that America's will will not "break in frustration" in Vietnam and peace with honor will be won.

And the peace will be built, Johnson said, on victories of young men going out to help the Vietnamese people in the pacification program with programs of health, education, agriculture, and public works.

"Let no one misread our purpose: peace is our goal," Johnson said.

"Let no one mistake our resolve: peace will be won. It will be peace with honor."

Seventeen young men were present and heard the President speak at a ceremony in the White House rose garden with a few drops of rain pattering down.

They are the first graduating class of the Vietnam Training Center of the State Department's Foreign Service Institute. They are finishing 48 weeks of study that included 1,000 hours in the Vietnamese language.

Planning Group Discusses Holiday Inn's 'Great Sign'

The Warren County Planning Commission in regular session Thursday night discussed Holiday Inn's "Great Sign", a proposal by Holly Apartments for additional new family units, the master plan and the Youngsville-Warren Route 6 bypass in the Starbrick area.

A letter was received from a local resident referring to an article in last Sunday's New York Times in which the usual Holiday Inn sign was referred to as "the granddaddy horror of them all." There has been considerable controversy as to the sign since Holiday Inn indicated interest in building in the Rogertown area where, under the county zoning ordinance the sign in question would be prohibited.

The Holly Apartment proposal, according to commission spokesmen, would require an amendment to the original variance granted in that township to conform with the new map viewed by planner Thursday.

The commission devoted considerable time to the county's continuation of its planning application to include funds for a review of industrial sites, the proposed Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau outdoor historical drama project and a Warren County school district site study.

Planners agreed to submit as a draft for review the three areas designated to see if acceptance would be tentatively approved for federal funding.

David Potter confirmed an earlier news story that the State Highways Department had altered the Route 6 bypass design to provide a 16 foot median strip in the Starbrick area rather than the original four foot. Conewango township supervisors have requested inclusion on

Rockefeller Withdraws From Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller withdrew Thursday from contention for the Republican nomination for president, thus virtually assuring it for Richard M. Nixon.

"I have decided today to reiterate unequivocally that I am not a candidate campaigning, directly or indirectly, for the presidency of the United States," Rockefeller said in a prepared statement at a news conference.

He left the door open, however, for a draft. He said: "I have said that I stood ready to answer to any true and meaningful call from the Republican party to serve it and the nation, I still so stand, I would be delirious or uncandid were I to say otherwise."

He said he has taken his name off the ballot for the Oregon presidential primary, May 28, filing with the Oregon secretary of state, an affidavit that he is not a candidate.

At the same time, the governor said, he has sent telegrams to the numerous draft-Rockefeller organizations that have formed across the country asking them to halt their efforts on his behalf.

The announcement caused a major political surprise, not least in Oregon, where leaders of the draft-Rockefeller committee obviously had no advance word. Only minutes before the governor's announcement, William F. Moshofsky, vice chairman of the committee, prepared a statement saying, "Obviously we are tremendously pleased and excited about Gov. Rockefeller's announced candidacy. . . clearly he is the man of the hour."

Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, an ardent Rockefeller booster, said in Salem he was "shocked and dismayed."

Rockefeller appeared utterly calm as he made his announcement to a press conference of between 400 and 500 newsmen, which was televised. Answering questions, he joked and smiled frequently.

In his prepared statement, he set forth four reasons for his decision not to run:

1. He said a considerable majority of GOP leaders want Nixon as the party's candidate for president.

2. He wants to avoid anything that might split the party at a time when, he said, the nation is badly divided.

3. He does not believe "personal combat between two presidential aspirants" would enlighten the nation on the great foreign and domestic issues confronting it.

4. He intends to concentrate on his legislative program for New York and said this "could only be impaired by active campaigning for higher office."

Jordan Seeks Sanctions Against Israel for Attack

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Jordan demanded Thursday that the Security Council invoke sanctions against Israel for its massive military attack on the east bank of the Jordan River.

It found no immediate support, however, outside the Arab group. Several countries, including the Soviet Union and France, called for the condemnation of Israel but did not back the proposal for punitive measures, which could be either economic or military.

The United States deplored Israel's action, but did not comment on the demand for sanctions.

Jordan called the Israeli action a "cowardly attack on refugees and other Jordanian citizens."

Israel replied that its strike into Jordan was an act of self-defense to prevent new incursions of Arab guerrillas which it said were backed by Jordanian authorities. Israel said the council should urge Jordan to abandon what Israel called a "policy of war and help toward an Arab-Israeli settlement."

The debate took place at an urgent council meeting called on successive requests from Jordan and Israel after the Israelis struck with troops, tanks and planes. Combined claims added up to 350 killed.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said there should be U.N. cease-fire observers on the Israel-Jordan sector, as there are on the Israel-Syria and Israel-Egypt sectors. Israel has objected to the stationing of U.N. observers there, and it can be done only with the consent of the countries involved.

Goldberg said the Israeli attack was out of proportion to the provocation and that military reprisals were ruled out in the Middle East.

A&P Asks Permission For Larger Store Sign

A&P Food Stores said Thursday that the new borough law on sign sizes would, if applied to the new A&P store at the foot of Liberty st., handicap it in competition with Acme Markets.

William Rusin, planning director, told commission members that 250 copies of the master plan would be ready by the end of next week. He also stated that the planning commission office would have a booth at the annual Kiwanis Sports Show to acquaint the general public with planning operations.

Charles Tranter of Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau was present to review progress to date by that organization in the proposed historical drama venture.

County Commissioner Blain M. Mead was also in attendance.

Nixon Believes He'll Win

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said Thursday night he believes he will win the Republican presidential nomination, and plans to broaden his campaign beyond the primary states now that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has announced he will not run.

"I will continue to campaign as I have," Nixon said. "But at this point, because of the new developments, I will extend my schedule geographically."

"I will not concentrate as much, say in Oregon, as I had previously intended," the former vice president told newsmen moments after he landed in Madison to resume his campaign for Wisconsin's April 2 presidential primary.

"I think I will win the nomination, and I think I will win the election," Nixon said.

But he said he is not claiming to have sewed up top spot on the Republican ticket. Nixon said the abundance of favorite son candidates means the nomination still will be decided at the Republican National Convention opening Aug. 5 in Miami Beach, Fla.

Nixon said he considered Rockefeller's statement of non-candidacy in New York "very constructive" in the interests of party unity. "It will be very helpful in the months ahead whatever the decision in Miami," Nixon said.

Nixon said he takes Rockefeller's New York statement at face value.

"It seemed to me that if this were a strategy to get the nomination, there wouldn't have been the unequivocal declaration that was made," Nixon said. "The governor made it very clear that he will accept a draft, and in the event that something would happen to me, a draft might occur."

He said Rockefeller is among the Republican leaders with whom he wants to consult on issues, the party platform and the Republican campaign. Nixon said the New Yorker is the Republican governor most expert in foreign affairs, is knowledgeable on city problems, and can "make a constructive contribution" to the platform.

Thieu Will Clip Wings Of Warlord Commanders

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu will try to follow up his pledge Thursday to crack down on corruption by clipping the wings of the nation's four warlord corps commanders, informed sources said.

They reported that some time before April 15 Thieu will set up six national administrative groups with a civilian at the head of each.

In a major policy speech, Thieu said he would serve as chairman of two new administrative groups—the National Planning Council and the Committee for Administrative Reforms.

The planning council will develop national programs of all types and see that they are put into operation.

The administrative reform committee will study present administrative procedures to "build an efficient, healthy and especially an honest and dedicated administration, worthy of serving the population," Thieu said.

The committee apparently will serve as a basic tool in Thieu's plans to attack inefficiency in government operations and to weed out corruption from national and local governments.

40 Already Signed Up For Soap Box Derby

Registration for the Warren County Soap Box Derby has reached 40, derby directors announced Thursday.

Directors Vic Miller and Nick Petchel said they urge all boys interested in the July 13 race to register now at Dan's Chevrolet so they will have enough time to work on their entries.

Within a few weeks there will be the first "Derby Clinic" for those planning to build entries, the directors said. The time and place will be announced later.

TV Has Big Role in Selection Of White House Occupant

NEW YORK (AP) — Every four years television participates in a ratings race with the highest stakes of all—the White House.

More than a mere eyewitness, more than a mere conveyor of campaign sights and sounds, television plays an active role in the selection of the occupant.

Since 1952 television has been the means by which the voter gets a close-up view of the candidate and sees him at work at ease, under stress, off guard and in moments of triumph and defeat.

"If I were a political candidate I would go at television very cautiously," said NBC News broadcaster Chet Huntley. "I have a feeling this is where you reveal your soul. That lens has a way of getting at you."

Persons who have worked with candidates in the medium believe that the image and impressions the voter forms of the candidates on television will be a major factor—possibly the major factor—in determining how he will cast his ballot for president on Nov. 5.

A political campaign on television is a mixed bag of journalism, show business and Madison Avenue hucksterism.

It takes between $10 million and $15 million to mount a campaign for president, and a very large percentage of that goes for time on television.

James C. Hagerty, press secretary for President Dwight D. Eisenhower and now a vice president of the American Broadcasting Companies, took note of this amount at a recent symposium at Columbia University and said, "This is getting ridiculous."

"I think we will have to go eventually to the British system under which time would have to be given by the networks to the major candidates for president and vice president."

Purchased television time is swinging away from the half-hour speech format towards the 60-second commercial. In this manner a candidate is marketed like any other product.

One of the most successful uses of the 60-second spot was in Nelson A. Rockefeller's 1966 campaign for re-election as governor of New York. Rockefeller did not appear in any of the commercials, put together by Myron McDonald of Jack Tinker and Partners.

Every candidate tries to make maximum use of that biggest television bandwagon of all, the evening news programs. First of all, he can reach millions of persons unburdened by television's prohibitive costs and the red tape of getting air clearance. And, in addition, it has a built-in credibility not always found in paid broadcasts.

But those in television news are inclined to minimize its persuasive powers.

"We take a slice of the candidate out on the campaign trail," said Huntley. "I don't concede for a minute that we are engaged in the business in television news that we may win or lose an election for a candidate. By the time a campaign is over, we've shown him in all attitudes, all phases, all circumstances."

In the final analysis, any candidate for president is going to have to make sense, get in a dialogue with the American people, appeal to their intelligence and, indeed, some of their emotions."

Gene Wyckoff, an independent who has prepared television programs for such Republicans as Richard M. Nixon, Rockefeller and Henry Cabot Lodge, says the country has moved into an era of the image candidate, in which the candidate "is a leading character in a political drama presented by television before an election."

Wyckoff said the way a candidate looks and the way he depicts himself is what sticks in the viewer's mind and forms the image—and that what he says has very little to do with it.

In an interview, he said the Republican candidate "if he does nothing to injure himself, will have no trouble whatsoever taking on Johnson on an image basis."

"You see, usually between the major effective candidates, meaning candidates for the major parties, it's very hard for the public to tell the difference between them on issues. That's why it tends to come down to images."

Wyckoff said that although former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama was an effective television campaigner, he did not consider him an image candidate. "Wallace is an issue appeal," he said.

Concerning the fight for the Democratic nomination, Wyckoff said Sen. Robert F. Kennedy "has got the powerful organization and the people who can turn out the image commercials," Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, he said, "just doesn't have them and can't afford them."

Theodore C. Sorensen, a special adviser to President John F. Kennedy, said on the Public Broadcast Laboratory, "I must say that I am not too concerned about the image makers taking over presidential politics. . . I am not persuaded that the American people are going to elect a president on the basis of hucksterism and ham."

Television, as much as the jet age, has changed the character of the campaign. A candidate can make speeches at widely separated cities in one day, have the highlights shown on the evening news shows, then address the entire nation in a paid broadcast. And all the while carefully prepared 60-second commercials push his candidacy.

Platform flamboyance and oratorical embellishments have all but gone the way of the whistle-stop tour. "Politicians have scaled down their approach to fit the intimacy of small groups in the living room," said CBS News broadcaster Walter C. Cronkite.

Campaign managers are learning, too, that you can't simply turn the cameras on the candidate at a rally. One campaign expert called that "radio with a light to read by."

The use of television certainly is not without its perils, as Nixon learned in his debate in 1960 with John F. Kennedy. Wyckoff contends that many people still retain an unfavorable image of Nixon.

Another possible candidate who has not always been treated kindly by television's harsh eye is President Johnson. "I think that's because he hasn't yet found a way to be natural on television," Cronkite said. "His every television performance is still that—a performance."

Says advertising man McDonald: "I think the major piece of misinformation in the unsophisticated use of television is that, at least, it can do no harm. Well, nothing can be further from the truth. You can do as much damage on television as you can good."

Eligibility for Medicaid May Be Cut 50 Per Cent

MAYVILLE, N.Y. — Burton C. Miner, Chautauque County commissioner of social services, announced Thursday the number of persons eligible for Medicaid under new state legislation may be cut back by as much as 50 percent. He quickly added, however, this does not necessarily mean the cost of operating his department will be sharply reduced. Doctor's fees and hospital costs, the commissioner said, are constantly increasing and are expected to continue in the foreseeable future.

Miner also noted, Chautauque County has an above average population of elderly persons who benefit from both Medicaid and Medicare. The county social services department budget allocation for Medicaid this year is $4.1 million, a 50 percent increase over 1967. The $2 million increase due solely to Medicaid resulted in the doubling of county taxes in certain Chautauque County townships.

In Jamestown, which has its own welfare district, no estimates have as yet been released by commissioner Leonard P. Crissey on the number of persons who are now eligible. Confusion over the entire matter is quite apparent since someone apparently told Jamestown's City Council the local Medicaid cost would be cut back by at least $400,000. Councilman Warren Erickson, however, recently proposed the city council trim $210,000 from the 1968 budget. The council's finance committee is presently studying the legality and advisability of such action.

TO KEEP TRAFFIC MOVING

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — The first women traffic cops in Johannesburg, to be appointed shortly, will not wear miniskirts. "We don't want them wearing anything that is going to stop the traffic," said J.F. Oberholzer, chairman of the city council's traffic committee.

Traffic chief Saville Dorfman will invite designs for the uniforms from leading fashion designers but they aren't going to become a regular fashion fad. "We just wouldn't want the expense of issuing new uniforms every time somebody in Paris got a new idea," Dorfman said.

Inquiry Set To Review Yoder Appeal

HARRISBURG (AP) — Machinery to bring the dismissal of Dr. Norman Yoder as State Commissioner for the blind before the State Civil Service Commission was set in motion Thursday.

On a request by Yoder's attorney, Elmer E. Harter of Harrisburg, the commission issued a standard preliminary inquiry form to spell out the basis for the appeal.

A commission spokesman said the form was necessary as a matter of course to determine whether any appeal, Yoder's included, had merit.

Yoder was fired from his $20,664 state post last February after admitting he had concocted the story that six college students were blinded by the sun while under the influence of LSD.

He was suspended originally while he sought treatment at a Philadelphia psychiatric hospital. Following his release in mid-February, he was dismissed effective at the termination of his 89 days of unused vacation and sick leave, June 10.

The commission spokesman said the agency would put the Yoder form on the agenda for the next meeting after its return. If the commission decided there was justification for an appeal, the next step would be to set a hearing date.

HELLO, SPRING!

Linda Garner, left, and Pam Miller model the latest in spring fashions at a fashion show Thursday night at the Betty Lee store. Featured were an array of styles from the casual to the more formal. In addition, through special arrangements with the makers of Keds, there was a showing of the latest shoe styles for spring and summer. Warren merchants throughout the area welcomed the coming of spring, despite the drizzle outside, with a display of color to herald the coming warm weather and gladden the spirits of all who visited their stores last night. The spring promotion continues through Saturday.

College Newspapers Urge Defeat of President Johnson

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey of college newspapers across the nation shows that editorial endorsements in the Democratic presidential race are predominantly split between Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D.N.Y., and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn. But the editorials are in agreement in urging the defeat of President Johnson.

Editorial comments vary from calling Kennedy's entry into the campaign a "malicious display of political opportunism"—Daily Illini, University of Illinois—to praising Kennedy as someone who can return the nation to the "ideals of the New Frontier"—The Spectrum, New York State University at Buffalo.

McCarthy was praised for breaking "the somber barriers of apathy... and giving hope to a Democratic party which was rapidly becoming a detached, atrophied clique of party hacks"—The Daily Princetonian, Princeton University.

Air Force Solves Prairie Chicken Problem

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The mating call of the prairie chicken is rarely heard in the land around Ellington Air Force Base here.

A helicopter with a net has captured 68 of an estimated population of 80 prairie chickens, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said Thursday.

Even a small bird sucked into a jet intake can ruin an engine worth $100,000 and endanger the pilot's life. Astronaut Theodore C. Freeman, landing at Ellington, was killed when his jet trainer collided with a goose.

The might and brains of the Air Force, space administration, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Texas A&M University and the State Parks and Wildlife Department only tugged and hauled at the problem, inching toward victory, until a biologist with the Federal Wildlife Service thought of helicopters.

The technique is as simple as a hawk chasing rabbits. The chopper searches until a chicken is flushed. It chases the bird until it tires, flops to the ground and attempts to hide. This usually takes about eight minutes. The chopper settles over the bird with the net. A crewman jumps out and catches the bird.

Half the birds have been taken to Refugio County, whose prairie chicken population was almost destroyed by Hurricane Carla in 1961. The other half are at Texas A&M, where studies are being conducted on how to persuade the rare bird—technically known as Attwater's prairie chicken—to reproduce in captivity.

Even newspapers which supported Kennedy had praise for McCarthy.

"We feel nothing but admiration for the courageous Minnesota man who gave so many students renewed hope in a political process that seemed—and may well be—incapable of coping with the nation's crisis," said the Harvard Crimson.

The Crimson gave its endorsement to Kennedy, a Harvard graduate, and urged McCarthy "to step aside in favor of Kennedy who offers the best hope of winning."

In Wisconsin where McCarthy is now campaigning, three major college newspapers are supporting the Minnesota Democrat in the primary. Editors of the newspapers say any switch to Kennedy would not come until after the April 2 primary.

The Milwaukee Post at the University of Wisconsin said Tuesday in an editorial endorsement of McCarthy for the primary:

"It is clear that the United States will not end the war in Vietnam of its own volition as long as Johnson is president, and it is also a safe bet that Richard Nixon, the likely Republican nominee, would not win the war either."

"As long as the President of the United States thinks he is Wyatt Earp, the first thing we must do is make him check his guns. Lyndon Johnson must go."

Why Taxes?

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you believe there is really no such thing as a temporary tax and that the government would spend all the extra money raised by a boost, you side with some of the major critics of President Johnson's tax proposal.

This line of reasoning has kept bottled up in the House Ways and Means Committee Johnson's proposal for a 10 per cent addition to existing income taxes.

Johnson says the tax increase is needed to cut down a prospective $20 billion-plus budget deficit to manageable size—say $8 billion.

Skeptics say yes, but suppose we do vote a tax increase and spending goes up right along with it?

Then, critics on Capitol Hill say, a year from now we'll have people unhappy about paying more taxes—and still a $20 billion-plus red ink item.

"War taxes" last much longer than wars, the same critics say, recalling that Congress even now is at work extending some of the excise rates hiked during the Korean War that started almost 18 years ago.

So they question the description of the proposed income surcharge as a temporary tax linked to the Vietnam fighting.

They demand, as a condition for even considering an income tax increase, much sharper cutting of the federal budget—outside of Vietnam spending—than has yet been accomplished. A dollar cut for every dollar of additional tax revenue is a formula often quoted.

None of the skeptics is more powerful than Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. He is proud of the tax cut he piloted to passage three years ago.

Following that reduction and, its sponsors say, principally because of it, the economy took off and the resulting government revenues were greater than they had been with the higher rates.

Another argument raised against a tax increase—and often by the same people—is that the administration has not proved its case that a dangerous inflation is imminent. Each new set of relevant figures—industrial production, employment, personal income, rate of saving, and the like—sets off another round of debate.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler insists that something like a 3 1/2 per cent price increase in the first half of 1968 is virtually assured. His opponents say: perhaps, but no tax increase Congress could pass would have much effect before the second half of the year, and what will the economy be like then?

Both sides are fully aware, of course, that a presidential and congressional election comes in the latter half of 1968.

One of the persistent opponents of an income tax increase is Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate House Economic Committee.

Proxmire questioned the administration estimates of the amount of revenue a surtax would raise. If the tax dampened the growth of the economy or even caused a downturn in production, employment and income, he said, the yield would be nothing approaching the administration's hopes. It might be $3 billion or $4 billion instead of $10 billion, he told Fowler.

The gold crisis, instead of softening Proxmire's opposition to the tax increase, provided him with an additional argument against it. He said a 10 per cent surtax would obviously make U.S. corporations less profitable and thus discourage foreign investment in them—producing a minus factor in the payments balance.

COCKATOO KEEPS COOL

SYDNEY (AP)—Luv, a pet sulphur-crested cockatoo, knows how to keep cool in the Australian summer. The bird presses the valve of auto tires, cools off in the escaping air.

Luv's owner, Jim Walker, said: "The bird has let my tires down three days in a row."

"The first day I thought I had two flat tires, but the garage said they couldn't find anything wrong. The next day I thought hooligans must be letting the tires down because I had three flats."

"The third day I heard air hissing and went round quietly and caught him at it. The bird was sitting there with his beak on the valve and the air whistling round him. He was flapping his wings in the breeze and was as happy as Larry."

Walker now has guards over his tire valves.

Why Not Taxes?

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the world gold market went wild and central bank heads hurried to Washington to try to restore order, President Johnson's case for an income tax increase got a sharp boost.

Suddenly it really seemed possible that the monetary system of the Western world might be going to pieces.

One of the main arguments for raising Americans' taxes has been that the federal government's red ink figure is reduced, confidence in the dollar always will be threatened. And it is on the dollar principally that the international system depends.

There are home-grown arguments, too, for the 10 per cent surcharge Johnson proposes adding to income taxes. The main one boils down to this: It would cost less in the long run to pay higher income taxes for a while than to pay perhaps forever the higher prices inflation would bring.

The country faces, by government reckoning, deficits of more than $20 billion a year while the Vietnam fighting continues.

In Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler's view, allowing such deficits to occur is unthinkable, in the first place, because of the inflation he says would result.

He said the income tax surcharge and related measures would hold the deficit in the neighborhood of $8 billion, which can be handled.

The classic economic argument runs this way:

Big government deficits work through the monetary system to push much more money into circulation. With more money to spend, people bid against each other, in effect, for available goods. Prices go up. This is "demand-pull" inflation.

As prices go up, the buying power of wages and other income is less. So labor presses harder for big increases. The wage-price spiral starts spinning, with "cost-push" adding to "demand-pull."

Result: everybody pays more for everything and it is worse off than if he had just paid more income tax for a while. And with a boom of these dimensions, there is always the danger of a later, devastating bust.

To some, especially in Congress, the credit-squeeze argument for a tax increase is more impressive than the inflation argument.

Here it is, in brief: Unlike a private business, government never really has to balance its budget or stop operating. It can always borrow. But there is, even in an economy as rich as that of the United States, some limit on the amount available for borrowing. If the government keeps claiming a bigger and bigger share, somebody else gets left out.

Moreover—supply and demand again—everybody, including government, has to pay higher interest rates, especially if the Federal Reserve System tries to dampen the inflation by holding down the money supply.

The people who are beginning to be left out, proponents of the tax increase say, notably include the housing industry and small business. Why tie up your money in a 25-year mortgage when you can get the same—maybe a better—return on a shorter-term, 100 per cent safe, government instrument?

As a banker, if you have to choose among customers in allocating a limited amount of credit, why not keep your loans simple and safe with a few big, solid borrowers?

The argument that connects an average U.S. taxpayer's Form 1040 with the mysterious world of international finance begins with a fact:

The international payments of the United States have been out of balance for years—more money has been going out than has been coming in. The current deficiency is at the rate of about $3.5 billion a year.

That doesn't mean the country is buying more than it is selling abroad—in fact, the opposite is true. The total outgo includes investments, tourist spending, aid, military outlays and so on.

The U.S. gold stock has dipped so low that Congress, with little time to spare, repealed the law that had frozen $10.7 billion of it to back paper currency.

That reserve is now available to the group of nations trying to keep monetary gold in the hands of governments and central banks and out of the hands of speculators.

Proponents of the tax increase insist passage of this bill has become the principal symbol of Washington's determination to put its monetary affairs in order and keep the dollar strong and pegged at $35 for an ounce of gold.

'Community Spirit'

Responsible for the success of every thriving community is a quality often referred to as "community spirit." With it wonders can be accomplished, without it a community staggers along without every approaching its full potential.

In general, the citizens of Warren County have always shown a fair degree of this community concern. Few if any worthwhile projects or programs suffer from the lack of it. Yet, it is always heartening to learn that new heights of community betterment are being reached through the efforts of our individual citizens, and in a particular case, the farsightedness of our county officials.

This particular case is the donation of five acres of valuable timberland to the county by John and Bea Stewart as the potential site for a much-needed picnic grove in the Scandia area. The generosity of the Stewarts in making the offer, and the acceptance of the gift by the county commissioners, is highly commendable. Both parties have shown an awareness of the great opportunity Warren County has to become one of the most outstanding recreational communities in the East.

While this will be the first "county" park in Warren County, it can be hoped that it is only a beginning. Other counties have learned that the development of a park system has brought returns far above the minimal investment of public funds, and at the same time broadened the recreational opportunities available to local residents.

The new area, Hemlock Park, is a start—and a good one.

JAMES RESTON

Rocky's Logic and Expediency

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON—Nelson Rockefeller has come up with a wonderful combination of logic and expediency. He is saying that to divide a minority party in order to get its presidential nomination would be tiresome and useless, and therefore why try to crash the party without an invitation?

It is the posture of a gentleman: patient, well-mannered, dispassionate, comfortable—the kind of thing a man would do who has no worries about the future. He is obviously willing to serve or not serve in accordance with the noblesse oblige tradition of the Republicans.

There hasn't been a better illustration of good manners and good politics in this century. Rockefeller has always been supremely confident. Home holds no terrors for him. He "needed" the governorship of New York in his last election, because the professional politicians rejected him and he thought losing would have been a personal humiliation. He does not feel the same way about the presidency. He wants it, of course, but he doesn't want to defy the party to get it, because he knows that defying the party would destroy it.

It is easy to argue with his spirit but not with his logic. McCarthy and Kennedy went against the odds. Rockefeller, in that supremely confident, terse, almost arrogant command of the press conference at the Hilton Hotel in New York, went with the odds and put the issue up to his party.

There is nothing very noble or exciting in his decision. He did not give up. He is still very much in the race. It can be argued that maybe this is the best way to get in, rather than the way to get out. He remains, coming up to his 60th birthday, a kind of animated moderation, part political cunning, and it could be that he has found the way to make the best of a very bad political job.

It can also be said that he took the easy way, even that he opened the gate for Johnson and Nixon, whose policies he opposes much more than he has said in public. Yet it is hard to argue that by consulting his mind rather than his heart, as Kennedy did, he was unfaithful to himself or his party or his country.

At least, he checked the facts before deciding. There were four critical meetings, beginning a week ago Wednesday, when he grappled with the problems. By the weekend he had rejected all the proposals for clever compromises, and came down to the key question of whether to get in or whether to get out.

Nobody can say he didn't make a careful survey of his position. He took private polls. He checked with his friends, the Republican governors. He came to Washington and consulted his friends in Congress, but always he was in what seemed to him to be an extremely difficult minority, which could be overcome only by a savage primary battle that would divide the party and, as he saw it, assure a Democratic victory in November.

In personal terms, in Republican terms, in mathematical terms, it is not hard to understand why Rockefeller came out as he did. His principal advisers in the four key meetings—George Hinman, Emmet Hughes of Newsweek magazine, Bill Ronin and Ted Braum of California—all agreed on the waiting game. So did his wife, whose enthusiasm for a shattering party brawl in the primaries was not unreserved. But what of his beliefs, his conscience and the coming four years?

His answer to this is that he could serve them better by waiting than by acting, that he could not win the nomination after a divisive primary battle without losing the election, and that anyway, this was for the party to decide.

This is a year of political accidents and surprises, and Rockefeller's surprise will not be the last of them. What happens in Vietnam, in the cities, in the world monetary crisis; and how Johnson, Nixon, McCarthy and Kennedy perform between now and August may be the main thing. Anyway, Rockefeller has determined to wait and see. He will be speaking out on the great issues in the next few months, while others are scrambling for delegates in the primaries, and who knows? The governor's comfortable strategy may prove to be wise in the end.

Teachers: Take a Second Look

Pennsylvania News Service
HARRISBURG -- Columnist's Notebook:

WORTH A SECOND LOOK—In the uproar and commotion that last week sent the teacher pay increase legislation sailing through the House of Representatives and into the Senate where the legislation reposed this week, a point perhaps has been missed by many a school teacher anticipating a $500 check as automatically part of the package.

The legislation in question for example spells out upping the minimum pay from $4500 to $5400 during the 1968-69 school year and increasing the minimum to $6000 during the 1969-70 year, about which there is little question.

However the bill also provides for an increase of $500 for every teacher during the 1968-69 school year—which many teachers apparently assume means $500 over and above everything else; in other words, an out-and-out "gift" to be received by every teacher. This isn't quite the case, as the following amendment inserted in the bill during passage by the House indicates:

"Any school district which, prior to the effective date of this act (July 1, 1968), has adopted an increased salary schedule for the school year 1968-69 over the salary schedule in effect for the school year 1967-68, shall apply the five hundred dollar ($500) increase herein provided to such increased salary schedule, but in no event shall any professional employee receive a salary increase of less than five hundred dollars ($500)."

In other words, if you're within one of the many school districts throughout the state which have already programmed a $500 increment in normal salary scaling, don't look for another $500 (as many seem to be at the moment).

"BURIED" GUARD RAILS—If you see the beginning of a guard rail along a newly opened section of highway buried in the ground, no need to panic; neither the contractor nor the State Department of Highways "gooted".

That's the way new guard rail installations now are being made, mandated as a safety measure on all new highway improvement projects constructed with the aid of federal funds. But the Department of Highways is going a step or two farther in trying to develop the program to include the remainder of the highway system.

What's the point in the buried guard rail, with the beginning section slanted and the first section buried in the ground? The idea is to eliminate a solid, fixed object along the roadside, thus permitting an errant motorist to sneak up on the guard rail rather than have it slap him in the face along with a pushed back engine, as too often is the case with the conventional upright guard rail post-starter of yore!

SEEMINGLY "INNOCENT" RESOLUTION—Last month the Republican Senate leadership introduced a resolution in the upper chamber that on the surface at least seemed innocent enough, but it fell by the wayside upon introduction.

The resolution pointed out that inasmuch as the official name of the "Sales and Use Tax" had been changed to the "Tax Act for Education" (to underscore of course the point that sales tax revenues go exclusively for education) the name of the "Bureau of Sales and Use Tax" in the Department of Revenue should also be changed to the "Education Tax Bureau". The resolution would simply "urge" the department to make the name change.

However it popped Democratic Senator Thomas F. Lamb, Allegheny County, as the question arose as to whether the resolution should be adopted, to say:

"I move, at this time, that this resolution be laid on the table until the full Democratic side of the Senate is here, in order to possibly caucus on this resolution. I would think that we would be in opposition." Why the opposition? Mr. Lamb didn't explain. The seemingly "innocent" resolution has been in committee since February 7.

The New Politics

WASHINGTON—American politics is showing itself this year to be something new and different. The underlying realities of human nature that govern our politics, and all others, are the same but they are being appealed to, exploited and controlled in different ways.

The new politics is considerably more than the changes of name, generations and issues that always have been accommodated within the system. And no structural reforms have been made or are in sight (save possibly the direct election of presidents).

What seems to have happened is subtler, less definite, and probably is not so much a complete new development as something both incomplete and just now beginning to be fully visible.

In the broadest sense, there has been a shift from organization politics to participation politics. This pronouncement will not surprise anyone who has been watching post-war trends — for instance the shift of the population out of the old pattern of a Republican countryside and Democratic cities into more homogeneous suburbs.

But the decision of Robert Kennedy to oppose President Johnson's renomination is the startling evidence of how far the trend has gone. And if either Kennedy or Eugene McCarthy should win the Democratic nomination, it will no longer be seen as a trend but as a sort of constitutional revolution in the way the nation chooses leaders.

Thirty-six years ago when President Hoover was in deep political trouble as the depression fastened itself on America, Joseph France of Maryland defeated him in several primaries but the Hoover-dominated Republican never gave him or anyone else a chance. They renominated the President as if he had some divine right.

Twenty years ago, when Harry Truman was in obvious trouble, some Democrats bestirred themselves more actively in search of another candidate, nibbling at Dwight Eisenhower among others. Again, there was never a real chance of denying the President the renomination he was determined to wrest from the organization he controlled.

Such a denial has been assumed to be the next thing to impossible. A president can control the party organization too tightly; to repudiate him is to repudiate the party's own work and its own record over the past four years; more important, it is sure to split the party and make victory in November impossible.

The real reason Kennedy can take the risk, with Johnson in trouble comparable to Hoover's and Truman's, is that public participation gradually is becoming more important than the organization. One evidence of this was seen in New Hampshire, where an outpouring of nonpolitical citizens (mostly young people) simply overwhelmed "the organization."

Another is the emphasis now being put on primaries and polls; the former are no longer the "eyewash" Truman once called them, and the latter are probably more important than a good-sized delegation. Such is the psychological impact on the public of winning votes in primaries and standing high in the polls that it is hard to believe that anyone could get elected president without doing either.

The conclusive factor, however, is television; that is what pulls all the other shifts toward participation politics into a related historical pattern. It is television that gives a primary campaign and victory their impact; television that allows candidates to go over the heads of organizations and delegates; television that focuses upon personality rather than upon record of party service.

If an incumbent president now is to be denied renomination for the first time in the modern era, it is because television, the primaries and the polls, working on a population that is moving out of the patterns in which party organizations were effective, can now generate and turn loose the kind of mass participation that produced McCarthy's strong showing in New Hampshire.

The Democratic delegates at Chicago will be more representative of the old politics than the new, so the odds still favor Johnson. But if either Kennedy or McCarthy can take the nomination away from him, it might also mean that participation politics could be the antidote for the party split that surely would result. In any case, their presence in the race shows how far we have come, and which way we are going.

Gets Windfall of U.S. $$$

WASHINGTON—The Johnson administration's apparent love of the military was highlighted last week in the middle of the gold crisis when George F. Woods, president of the World Bank, OK'd a $12.5 million loan to the Greek military dictatorship.

This was on the same day that trading in gold reached such a frenzied peak that the London gold market was ordered shut down.

The loan could not have been made without the blessing of the United States, and it meant an export of precious dollars at a time when we were supposed to be nursing dollars.

Mr. Woods, who shortly steps down as World Bank president to be succeeded by ex-Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, OK'd the loan to the Greek military one day after receiving a strong protest from Andreas Papandreu, former University of Minnesota and California professor and exiled cabinet member in his father's Center Union government. This was the largest political party in Greece when the Greek colonels stepped in to throw out parliamentary rule. Andreas has been in jail most of the time since.

For some strange reason the Greek dictatorship has enjoyed special concessions from the Johnson administration. It and Finland are the only two countries to be exempted from the ban on U.S. investments abroad. The position of democratic Finland is understandable because it has religiously paid its war debts to the United States.

The special favoritism given the Greek dictatorship is explained by some diplomats as resulting from the fact that Tex Thornton, chairman of Litton Industries and a friend of L.B.P.'s, has a contract with the Greek military to send American industry to Greece on a commission basis.

Obviously, no American industry can invest in Greece if there is a ban on the shipment of dollars abroad; so Litton was able to wangle an exemption from this ban. Dan Brewster, in charge of the State Department's Greek desk and very pro-military, is also given credit for the loan.

Significantly, the European Investment Bank, which was supposed to advance $8 million, refused to go along with the World Bank.

The loan will be administered in part by Dr. Constantine Thanos, deputy governor of the Bank of Greece, recently exposed for plagiarizing the thesis which won him his doctor's degree from Columbia University. This column reported Oct. 6, 1967, that Thanos had plagiarized his thesis from Dr. J. A. Galbraith of McGill University in Toronto. The Toronto Globe and Mail of March 5 reported that Columbia University will shortly remove the doctor's degree which Thanos received under false pretenses.

Note: The Greek Embassy public relations machine has been busy writing letters to editors in opposition to critical newspaper columns. It even contacted prominent Greek-Americans in California asking that they delay Rep. Don Edwards of San Jose with 500 letters because he had spoken out against the Greek dictatorship. For a foreign embassy to influence American politics is a violation of international law. It will be interesting to see what, if anything, Dan Brewster of the State Department does about this Greek intrusion into American politics.

Thousands of newspaper columns have been written regarding the Gulf of Tonkin resolution and the fact that many Senators now regret rushing it through with little debate, thereby giving the Johnson administration an official stamp of approval for the war in Vietnam.

Almost nothing has been written, however, about the two Senators who refused to be rushed into the war vote—Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska, both Democrats.

It's now clearly demonstrated by secret messages exchanged between the commander of the USS Maddox in the Gulf of Tonkin and the Pentagon in Washington that he was not at all sure he had been attacked. Yet the Senate, acting on false information rushed up to it by the Pentagon, voted overwhelmingly that there had been an act of aggression against the United States. Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has now publicly expressed his regret for the haste and apologized to the American people.

The two Senators who owe no apology for voting "no" have had a consistent record for opposing war; so consistent that their no votes and speeches are no longer considered news and are played down by the press wire services.

Senator Morse, while consistently opposing President Johnson on Vietnam, has battled valiantly for the President as a labor mediator in five vitally important strikes, which has won him the bitter opposition of the Machinists' Union.

Senator Gruening, the father of Alaskan statehood, first proposed that the United States get out of Vietnam on March 10, 1964, six months before the Tonkin resolution. He has been consistent ever since. His latest proposal is that draftees not be required to fight in Vietnam, since there has been no declaration of war against North Vietnam. Protesting draftees could serve in the armed services elsewhere. Those who enlist, plus draftees who are willing to go, Senator Gruening argues, would supply enough troops for the "illegal" war.

CIA reports that Arab Communists and Moslem fanatics, though at opposite extremes of the political spectrum, have joined forces to threaten the stability of the Egyptian government. The CIA report warned that a communist takeover of Egypt was a distinct possibility within the next three years. The Communists, for example, have been exploiting the trials of army officers in order to undermine public faith in the regime.

SYLVIA PORTER

Africa's Appeal

Uganda and Tanzania: How would you like to ride in a jeep across vast, open plains and see: herds of Zebra, Kudu, Wildebeest, Grant and Thomson Gazelles, all wild, all roaming freely around your car, all unexpectedly silent, deceptively gentle, even shy?

How would you like to sail down the Nile in a powered launch and look up to see scores of Elephants feeding on trees along the river bank, look down to see countless Crocodiles slithering in the mud next to your bukkies, the Hippos?

This is what I saw (plus Lions, Giraffes, Rhinos, Baboons, etc.) in Uganda and Tanzania, two countries in East Africa 7,000-8,000 miles from New York City during the period my income tax series was appearing. And if my response is typical, I also witnessed the beginning of what will become one of the great tourist areas of the globe.

In many regions, you can find awe-inspiring mountains, magnificent beaches, holiday climates and sports. But on top of all this, here you find a fantastic variety of wild animals constantly on the move across hundreds of square miles of national parks.

If you've even a mite of adventurous spirit, you must yearn to see the animals alive and FREE. If you've any love of nature at all, you must thrill to the fact that the emerging nations of East Africa have had the basic sense to earmark precious funds to set apart huge areas where each species may exist, evolve, and survive.

The two problems of how to get there in the time you can afford for a vacation are rapidly being solved. Increasing numbers of airlines are staking out routes to the capital cities of Nairobi in Kenya, Kampala in Uganda, Dar Es Salaam in Tanzania. We flew via a U.S. airline (our ticket dollars never left the country.) You can make the almost 8,000 miles to Dar Es Salaam overnight. We were there and back to New York in two weeks and three week-ends, surely a short vacation span.

But I know we saw only the beginning of the tourist area because there are other monumental problems. Expense is one. East Africa is a long distance from the U.S. and even the cheapest roundtrip fare approaches $800.

The lack of acceptable accommodations for the pampered American adult is another. There are some excellent hotels in the cities. The Mt. Kenya Safari Club is so arrogantly plush that you must repeatedly remind yourself that it is in the heart of East Africa. But most of the facilities near the game preserves are inadequate in numbers and inferior in quality. While the number of tourists is now moving into hundreds of thousands a year and the pace is rising at a spectacular 10-30 per cent annually, East Africa is not yet prepared for a significant tourist influx.

What's more, my interviews with government officials revealed that policies on building the lodges essential to house us are exceedingly fuzzy. There are no coordinated efforts to woo us, no publicity programs worthy of the name. Passable roads are still another problem. It's okay to go through a series of bone-jarring bumps in a Jeep or Land Rover while stalking animals on the plains but it is not okay to suffer the ruts while riding on what are called roads. And there are other drawbacks—in attitudes, services, the calibre of labor—which will restrain the pace of the tourist rise.

But all of the negatives shrink against the one great positive of the unique and abundant wildlife.

Spurred by your memories of the stuffed animals you loved as an infant, armed only with a camera, protected by a car and guided by strict safari regulations, you can "bag" a bonanza of dreams in East Africa, and this will translate into tourist boom.

The Spring Breakup

One of the most exciting times of the year in the North country is the spring breakup. I have experienced it in Maine, Quebec, and the Adirondacks when the great rivers still carried their burdens of logs to mills located along these historic waterways.

Before the spring breakup actually took place, one could sense its coming. The days of good snowshoeing were over. One had to get out long before dawn, while the snow was still crusted, and get back to camp before early afternoon to avoid wallowing too long in wet snow that weighted one's snowshoes. By mid-afternoon the top layer of ice on the lakes had melted and one walked in several inches of water. When crossing these lakes one could often hear an ominous rumbling sound as the ice settled along the shore line. The breath of spring was in the air, and all five senses were aware of it, even though it was still a white world all about one.

On an Easter Sunday in the first week of April thirty-nine years ago, I spent the day on snowshoes as I headed for the railroad and civilization—a trip that took three days of hard snowshoeing. I had spent ninety days on snowshoes, and I was tired of being a slave to them. I wanted to walk like a free man again with the feel of the good solid earth under me.

There were two periods in Quebec when I wanted expert counseling so that I could get out of the woods safely. One was in the fall when we had to break the ice along the lake shore to launch our canoes. I didn't want to linger any longer than necessary for fear that the great freeze would come overnight and cover the lakes with ice making canoe transportation impossible. The other period that worried me was near the time of the spring breakup. I didn't want to be caught without water transportation when the ice was about to go out and I could no longer cross the lakes on foot.

The accumulation of snow and ice from a long winter in the North country is a powerful force when released by the warmth of the sun during the spring breakup. Just when this force will be released has always been a point of argument among the natives. Some claim to be able to predict almost to the minute when the ice will give way, and the breakup will begin.

In the Adirondacks, when log drives were still an annual occurrence, the river drives started around Easter time. I was too late to see sawlogs go down the rivers, but I watched thousands of cords of peeled pulpwood make the long run by water to Glens Falls on the Hudson.

I never envied the river driver. He had to be tough to wade out in ice water. He had to be sure-footed as a mountain goat, as graceful as a ballet dancer, have the courage of a Spanish bull fighter, and be expert with peavey and pike pole. Calked boots and high water pants, held up by a pair of bright colored suspenders, set him off as a river man.

When the foreman of a river drive shouted, "Jump in boys, she ain't bilin' ", he meant what he said. If a new hand was afraid to jump into swift, icy water—sometimes wetting himself to the waist—he could never make a river driver. Good roads into the woods, and truck transportation, have put an end to river driving throughout most of the North-east. A colorful era has come to an end, and the spring breakup lacks the meaning that it once had.

Ironically enough, the very time when the logs rode wild and free on the backs of great rivers is a time when the log trucks are now immobilized. The spring breakup is mud season in the North woods, and the bottoms drop out of the roads.

The Latest Vietnam Casualty

JOSEPH ALSOP

The American Nightmare

WASHINGTON — The American dream now threatens to turn into a nightmare, as indicated by a previous analysis of the report of the President's riot commission. The nightmare is American APARTHEID, caused by the transformation of the great cities into vast, stagnating, jobless, hopeless black ghettos, while the white majority (arming, no doubt, for self-defense) occupies the surrounding suburbs and the countryside.

Alsop

Just that is what the riot commission report predicts, at any rate between the lines of its dreary official prose. The prediction is solidly substantiated, although the report can indeed be criticized on several other grounds. To begin with, it is dominated by the usual American liberal confusion between an explanation and an excuse.

Your rival in business, love or whatever may well behave in a manner richly provocative of instant homicide. But murdering your rival is still an impermissible expedient. The same holds true of the Negro rioters in Detroit and Newark. There was no excuse for what they did, although there was, and is, God save us!—an all-too-ample explanation.

Again, the riot commission report is marked by the usual American liberal lack of any sense of practical priorities. The Job Corps, for instance, is an obviously well-intentioned enterprise. Yet it costs close to $9,000 for each trainee. Only one trainee in every two is rescued by the Job Corps for productive work. And $18,000 per rescue is too much. The same cost-effectiveness objection can be made to most of the projects of the poverty program, and some others as well. And so much money is required to deal with our urban and racial problems that strict cost-effectiveness ought now to be the rule.

Yet again, the riot commission was a bit mealy-mouthed in its denial of any conspiracy behind last summer's riots. The report merely says, quite truthfully, that black racists preaching violence helped to create an atmosphere of riots. And it fails to take note of the accumulating evidence that there will be active conspiracy to provoke riots next summer.

These objections are all trifling, however, compared to the really central criticism that one is compelled to make. As on all other subjects, the riot commission report is virtuous and right-minded about education. But it is sadly woolly in its educational recommendations. And it wholly fails to stress the key fact that education is the string of Ariadne that can show the way out of the racial labyrinth's dark terrors. This is clearly demonstrable, moreover. Until only about 20 years ago, Chinese-Americans were so cruelly and harshly discriminated against as Negro-Americans. Then, highly educated Chinese newcomers, like the youthful Nobel Prize winners Drs. Yang and Lee, showed the way to the poor Chinese of the Chinatowns. All began to feel hope, to seek full education and to reach for opportunity. High achievement occurred more and more. And the barriers of prejudice and discrimination almost everywhere fell down.

That proves, at least, that education and achievement can overcome skin color—and thank God for it! It by no means proves, however, that our Negro fellow-citizens can, or should, be expected to imitate our Chinese fellow-citizens.

The Chinese had the world's strongest and most supporting family culture, not to mention the world's strongest racial pride, to help them on a hard road. We, the white majority in America, have the guilt and blame for destroying the native cultures of our Negro minority and for depriving them of pride of race as well. Black power, to the extent that it may strengthen cultures and reinstate racial pride, is wholly admirable and desirable, indeed.

These things being true, nonetheless, any fool ought to see that there is no way out of the labyrinth unless the Ariadne's thread of better education for the children of the ghetto is seized with both hands. Today, as the riot commission report indicates, nearly half the 400,000 Negro boys and girls reaching 18 each year have not finished high school, mainly because they could not keep up.

Those who do finish high school, furthermore, are on average three years and three months behind on graduation. They have been in school 12 years, in other words, but have an average hardly more than an eighth-grade education. These figures really mean that nine out of 10 of all Negroes reaching 18 each year are educationally unfitted to compete in a modern, highly technical society such as ours.

They are, in fact, educationally segregated, and would always be so segregated, even if they had a Swedish skin color. Only change this—and it will cost uncounted billions! Only make them competitive! Only aid them to achieve! There, for the long pull, is the one real way out that will save us from an American future violating every noble tradition, every high ideal of our country's honored past.

Labor Negotiator Says '68 Is Bad Year for Steel

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The head labor negotiator for the basic steel industry said Thursday night that contract talks this year actually will be getting off to a late start. And he said this will be bad for the industry and steelworkers alike.

R. Conrad Cooper of the U.S. Steel Corp. said there's been some misunderstanding of an agreement with the United Steelworkers to start talks April 1—two months ahead of schedule—on labor problems of individual companies and plants.

"This April start should not be misconstrued as an early start of steel negotiations in the traditional sense," he said in a prepared speech.

"While some helpful deck-clearing will take place in the plant-by-plant discussions of local issues and the individual company discussions of contract matters, the stage will not be set for overall collective bargaining until the latter part of June, only some five or six weeks before Aug. 1, the earliest possible termination date of the current labor agreements."

That's the date the present nationwide contract for 450,000 basic steelworkers runs out.

Cooper, speaking to the Printing Industry Association of Western Pennsylvania, pointed out that the 1963 talks began seven months before the contract ran out. In 1962 and 1965, he said, the talks began four months ahead.

Cooper said the late start will add millions of dollars to steel company costs because of peak buying by customers anxious to build up supplies in the event of a strike.

He said it also will mean an increase in foreign steel imports and the inevitable drop in production along with layoffs of workers after a settlement is reached.

Cooper said steel negotiators currently find themselves in much the same situation as 1959. That's the year the nation was hit by a 116-day steel strike. "One can find little room for comfort in such a situation," he said, "but there it is, and the problem must be solved."

GRIN AND BEAR IT

BY LIGHTY

"I always break out in a cold sweat when the audience starts to rise as I conclude my speech... Is it a walkout or a standing ovation?"

Bobby Charges Johnson Is 'Dividing Country'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy charged Thursday night that President Johnson—“not his dissenters”—is “truly dividing the country.”

“It is not those who call for change,” the New York contender for the Democratic presidential nomination said. “It is those who make present policy, those who bear the responsibility for our present course, who have removed themselves from the American tradition, from the enduring and generous impulses that are the soul of this nation.”

Kennedy's newest attack on Johnson came in an address prepared for a Vanderbilt University audience. It came at the end of a day in which he took his campaign to the scene of one of the nation's historic civil rights confrontations during his career as attorney general—the University of Alabama.

There, where he was received warmly and without incident by some 8,000 students, Kennedy urged Southerners to put past quarrels behind them and join him “in the task of national reconciliation.”

Escaped Killer Gives Himself Up to Police

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Escaped killer Winston Moseley gave himself up to police Thursday after he was trapped in an apartment building on suburban Grand Island.

Moseley surrendered after Erie County Sheriff B. John Tutuska and special FBI agent Neil Welch entered the building and convinced him he could not escape alive, police said.

Moseley was cornered Thursday morning a few hours after he allegedly raped a Buffalo woman and stole her automobile. He fled to Grand Island, which is in the Niagara River about five miles north of Buffalo.

Police found the getaway car near the apartment building and cordoned off the entire area.

Several bridges, the only escape routes from the island, were sealed off by state troopers.

Moseley held Mrs. E. James Patmos and her young daughter as hostages for about two hours on Grand Island, neighbors said, but the two were released unharmed shortly before he gave himself up.

Earlier Thursday, Moseley had held a husband and wife captive in a house in Buffalo for more than an hour. Police said Mrs. Matthew Kulaga reported that he raped her after binding her husband with ropes.

Moseley, 33, escaped a week ago from Meyer Memorial Hospital in Buffalo after slugging a guard as he was about to be returned to Attica State Prison.

He had undergone minor surgery at the hospital.

He was serving a life sentence at Attica for the stabbing death in 1964 of a New York City barmaid, Katherine “Kitty” Genovese, 28. The case drew wide attention after it was learned that 38 persons in Queens either saw the slaying or heard her screams and failed to summon police or go to her aid.

TV-Guided Bomb Production Speeded Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has accelerated production of a television-guided glide bomb to help minimize aircraft losses as the United States prepares for intensified bombing of North Vietnam.

Defense sources said Thursday production money for the glide bomb—called Walleye—was hiked by several million dollars for the Air Force and Navy in advance of the improved weather.

With Walleye, a pilot can release his bomb load without flying into the face of what is often a fierce air defense around target areas.

Walleye has what amounts to a small television transmitter in its nose which sends an image of the target to a screen in the plane cockpit.

Once the pilot electronically locks the bomb onto the correct target image and launches, he can peel off short of antiaircraft flak and surface-to-air missiles while the weapon guides itself to the target.

Since Walleye can track to a selected target several miles away, pilots of F4 Phantoms—the jets equipped with the system—are exposed to far less hostile fire.

The only limitation to the Walleye is weather conditions. The pilot must be able to see the target in order for the weapons system to work.

Walleye was developed by the Navy under a secret project, code-named Combat Eagle. In 1966, it was first put to use last year and officials say the weapon has proved highly accurate.

Pentagon figures show that as of March 12, the United States has lost 809 planes over North Vietnam. The money loss was nearly $2 billion.

The quarrels of past years, Kennedy said, “are behind us now—dwarfed by the far more serious issues facing us as Americans.”

For his youthful audience at Vanderbilt—all of his campaign addresses to date have been before college crowds—Kennedy vigorously defended the right to dissent.

“Now,” he said, “we hear from men in the highest places of government that ‘the time for debate is over’ that ‘the time has come to unite, to support our leaders, our government; we are asked, ‘which side are you on?’”

“There is much to dissent from,” Kennedy insisted.

“The policies which are isolating us from our oldest allies and all the world—these are something to dissent from,” he said.

“The President tells us we can look forward to summer after summer of riot and repression. I dissent from that and I know you do, too,” he said.

“And there are other divisions, equally serious, tearing at the fabric of our national unity,” Kennedy said.

“Every dictatorship,” Kennedy said, “has ultimately strangled in the web of repression it wove for its people, making mistakes which could not be corrected because criticism was prohibited.”

“So when we are told to forego all dissent and division, we must ask: who is it that is really dividing the country?”

The contest of 1968, he said, is “not for the rule of America, but for the heart of America.”

Earlier, Kennedy got a boisterous airport reception as he stopped briefly in Atlanta to change planes.

At the airport Kennedy learned of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's decision not to receive the Republican presidential nomination, virtually handing it by default to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

“I think it is unfortunate that the Republican party isn't going to have a choice,” Kennedy said. “We are obviously going to have a choice in the Democratic party.”

Calling for national reconciliation in his Tusculoo speech, Kennedy laid special emphasis on the Vietnam war, a keystone of his campaign against President Johnson.

USDA Announces Price Support Boost for Milk

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — An unexpected, election-year milk price-support boost announced by the U.S. Agriculture Department could mean an additional $37 million to dairy farmers in the big New York-New Jersey milk marketing order.

“We are just dumbfounded, pleasantly so of course, by the secretary's action,” a dairy spokesman said Thursday. “There was just no indication that this was going to happen.”

The spokesman said most of the cooperatives in the Northeast had tried on several recent occasions to present arguments for an increase “but we just weren't given any consideration at all.”

The move announced Wednesday by Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman would boost the price paid producers by 28 cents a hundred-weight (46.5 quarts) for Class I fluid milk and milk used for manufacturing.

Dairy leaders said the increase was expected to have little effect on consumers.

Leaders of 18 cooperatives in the Northeast expressed “pleasant surprise” at the long-sought decision.

They said that for 30,000 dairymen in the New York-New Jersey market, the nation's largest federal order, “the across-the-board increase would mean an almost equal increase in the blend price.”

The blend price, figured by a complicated formula on the basis of the amount of milk in the pool going for both drinking and manufacturing, is the amount actually paid to the producer.

The price was $5.21 last month in the milkshed, a three-cent increase over the 1967 average.

Grade Crossings

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Public Utility Commission Thursday ordered construction by May 31, 1970, of two grade crossings over Erie-Lackawanna tracks in Bloomsburg.

The estimated $70,000 cost was to be divided between the town, $59,000, the county, $5,000, and the Reading Co., the remainder, Erie-Lackawanna was ordered to protect the crossing with automatic signals.

Dies in Fire

STEELTON, Pa. (AP) — Stephen Fowl Jr., 33, died in a fire Thursday which destroyed a friend's apartment and damaged other living quarters in a three-story apartment building here.

Fire Chief Earl Burger said the fire apparently started in the first floor apartment where Fowl was an overnight guest.

Lions Establish Central Eye Bank Pledge Record

Lions Club eyesight programs for Warren County are expanding, the organization announced Thursday.

A new service will be a central county record of eye bank pledges; one copy will be kept in Warren and another sent to Buffalo Eye Bank. Pledges will be solicited at next week's Sports and Outdoor Show.

Lions are also helping to sponsor another glaucoma screening program at the Sports Show this week. All adults are invited to get a free screening any time from 2 to 10 p.m. Saturday and from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Tidoute and Sheffield Lions clubs recently pledged themselves to take charge of any sight problems in their areas. Earlier, Pine Grove Lions Club began a sight program in the Pine Grove-Sugar Grove area.

The Warren club's sight program which previously covered all of Warren County, will now be limited to those areas not covered by the other three clubs.

The proceeds of last year's Sight Seal campaign have been divided among the four clubs and are now being used for sight programs.

Shafer Still Not Sure About Salary Hike Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer indicated again Thursday that he had reservations about the $52 million teacher salary bill passed by the House last week.

“I want teacher salaries raised and accelerated if it can be done within our present revenue structure,” Shafer said at a news conference.

“At this moment we have $28 million available. I don't know where we can find additional funds,” he said.

Shafer stopped short of saying he would veto the bill if it were not amended by the Senate.

“I repeat that any measure which goes beyond the revenue structure will be vetoed,” he commented, but refused to specifically classify the House measure in that category.

The House Republican leadership intends to meet the first-year cost by reshuffling funds in Shafer's $2.1 billion budget. But it is generally conceded that second-year costs would require a tax increase.

Shafer said he would not decide what to do with the House bill until it reached his desk. It would provide all teachers with a $500 raise next year.

Shafer also indicated he had an open mind on the House Republican leadership's plans to cut back or defer programs in his budget in order to find the additional $24 million necessary for the teacher salaries.

“I will not go along with plans to scuttle any programs. However, it is a question of priorities and that decision must be made by the legislature,” the governor said.

“It's the responsibility of the executive to recommend. I happen to believe that if we are to meet the demands for other services, we can't cut them off without funds.”

On other subjects: Income Tax — He predicted that Pennsylvania could easily have an income tax within two years. “On the basis of constant demands for services, Pennsylvania probably would have one,” he said. “We have to have the revenue to meet those demands. This appears to be the only way.”

Yoder — Shafer said he has no plans to reinstate Dr. Norman Yoder as State Commissioner for the Blind. Yoder was dismissed after admitting that he had fabricated the nationwide story of six youths being blinded by the sun while under the influence of LSD. Yoder is asking the State Civil Service Commission for a hearing on his dismissal.

Executive Wing — Shafer said he has agreed to hold up construction of the $32 million executive wing to the rear of the main capitol until a study was made to determine whether existing space facilities would permit the cost to be modified.

Firemen from five companies couldn't save the Central Methodist Church, located 1 block from the center of town.

Earthquake Jolts Frisco Bay Region

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A moderate earthquake shock jolted the San Francisco Bay region Thursday at 1:55 p.m. The quake was strong enough to be felt sharply but not big enough to cause significant damage.

University of California seismologists recorded it at 3.8 on the Richter scale, a logarithmic scale measuring the amount of energy expended. The 1906 quake here was 8.25 on this scale.

Thursday's quake was centered about 75 miles north of San Francisco, the seismologists said—in the Santa Cruz mountains north of Watsonville.

Women were accepted as policemen by the New York police force back in 1889.

CLASS B, C TONIGHT; CLASS A TOMORROW

Pennsylvania State Cage Finals Set This Weekend

PITTSBURGH (AP) — East meets west in three big tests here Friday and Saturday as the PIAA high school basketball tournament enters its climactic final round.

A doubleheader Friday night sends Mount Penn against Williamsburg for the Class C championship and Middletown against East Brady for the Class B title.

Saturday night, Cheltenham plays Laurel Highlands for the Class A crown in a game to be televised live statewide. All three contests are at the Civic Arena.

Williamsburg will be making its sixth appearance in the state finals as the Blue Pirates go in quest of their third state championship. Their opponent, Mount Penn, is the only one of this year's finalists to have competed previously in a state championship game. The Berks counties lost in the 1954 Class B finals.

Williamsburg (25-2) won its fifth straight District 6 title with a balanced scoring attack, led by Jeff Appleman, a 5-11 senior who averaged 19 points a game. Tom Frye averaged 17, and Terry Cooper, 15.

Coach Dick Buckley, who tutored the Pirates to the 1966 PIAA championship, has a high scoring team that averaged 88 points a game through the regular season and the playoffs. Mount Penn (27-1) also has balanced scoring, with Bill Kline tops at 18 points a game. Bob Romankas has 17 and Dan Lora 15.

Riding the crest of an 18-game winning streak, Mount Penn will have a definite height advantage over Williamsburg. Lora stands 6-5 and Kline 6-4. Williamsburg's tallest starter is Frye, at 6-2½.

Vying for the Class B title are two teams very much alike. Both Middletown (27-1) and East Brady (20-6) utilize a balanced scoring attack and a pressure defense.

East Brady, because of its enrollment, could be playing in Class C. But, ironically, had the team not elected to play Class B this year, it might never have made the playoffs.

East Brady finished third in the Clarion County League, beaten by two Class C teams. However, since the Bulldogs were the top Class B team in the league, they won a playoff berth.

P. J. Campbell is East Brady's top scorer with a 17-point average. Chris Hillwig, who has been filling in for an injured starter during the playoffs, has been contributing around 14 points a game.

Middletown, one of the few teams that still employs the man-for-man defense, has a 26-game winning streak. The Blue Raiders' top scorer is Dave Twardzik, with a near 20-point average. Rich Barnoski averages around 15.

Middletown's only defeat during the season came at the hands of Steelton - Highspire, which went on to win the District 3 Class A championship.

When Laurel Highlands and Cheltenham clash for the Class A title Saturday, fans will get the opportunity to see two of the state's outstanding schoolboy stars.

Laurel's Wilbert Robinson is one of the state's top scorers, with a 30-point average. Craig Littlepage of Cheltenham has averaged 21 points a game.

Cheltenham is the only unbeaten team in the state with a 26-0 mark. Laurel (26-2) lost two games by the margin of one point.

N. Carolina Rated over Ohio State

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Houston's undefeated Cougars, voted the No. 1 team in the nation, paradoxically assume an underdog role Friday night against UCLA in college basketball's game-of-the-year.

Odds makers pegged the No. 2 rated Bruins a 7½-point favorite in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's semifinal round at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Advantage of the local floor, although not the UCLA home court, and a healthy Lew Alcindor appeared the reasons bettors in Las Vegas favor the Bruins.

North Carolina and Ohio State open the semifinal round at 7 p.m. PST with the Tar Heels favored by 5½ over their rivals from the Big Ten. Houston and UCLA tip off at 9 p.m. on national television via Sports Network Inc. A blackout extends for a 180-mile radius for that game.

No blackout will exist for Saturday night's finals starting at 7 p.m. following the 5 p.m. consolation battle.

Led by Elvin Hayes, who is quoted 6.5 to outscore fellow All-American Alcindor, the Cougars boast an undefeated season at 31-0 including a 71-69 triumph over UCLA in Houston's Astro-dome last Jan. 20.

The Cougars haven't been beaten since UCLA turned the trick in the semifinals a year ago. In 59 games this campaign the two teams have won 58 times. The only loss was by UCLA to Houston. The Bruins hold a 27-1 mark.

North Carolina is paced by 6-foot-4 All-American Larry Miller, a 215-pounder from Catawauqua, Pa., who averaged 22.7 during the season. The Tar Heels, 27-3, knocked St. Bonaventure out of the undefeated ranks 92-72 in the Eastern regional and then beat Davidson 70-66.

Ohio State, 20-7, developed fast toward the end of the season, led by Bill Hosket and Denny Meadows, and upset Kentucky 82-81 to win the trip West.

Former Wrestler Blasts U.S. Olympic Programs

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — The United States has some of the best amateur wrestlers in the world, but won't pay the price it takes to win gold medals, says a former Olympic champion.

"Money is the key to Olympic success," said Doug Blubaugh Thursday. In 1960 he won the welterweight gold medal for Uncle Sam and was voted the outstanding grappler in the Olympics. He suggested federal aid for sports.

Blubaugh did his college wrestling at Oklahoma State. He now is assistant wrestling coach at Michigan State and is at Penn State for the 38th annual NCAA championships. Besides teaching wrestling, he also manages the farm of Michigan State president John Hanna.

Blubaugh expressed concern over the U.S. decline in Olympic wrestling prestige. Our 1964 wrestlers earned only one bronze medal. Since the end of World War II, such nations as Russia, Turkey and Japan have become dominant in international wrestling.

"We have some of the best wrestlers in the world and do nothing with them," Blubaugh said. "What little we do, we do too late. For a wrestler to train properly for the Olympics, he has to be rich or join the Army."

That's what Blubaugh did. A poor farm boy, he joined the Army in 1957. He was sent to West Point, where he helped coach the wrestlers for three years. "I used to run 20 miles a day, worked eight hours a day," he said. Name more than one college wrestler who can afford this kind of training.

German Porsche Tops Trials in Sebring Enduro

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — A German Porsche driven by Hans Hermann of Germany and Jo Siffert of Switzerland flashed the highest speeds Thursday in the first qualifying trials for Saturday's 12-hour auto endurance race.

The Porsche, one of a team of four sleek prototypes from the Stuttgart factory, was clocked at 2 minutes, 49.4 seconds in its fastest lap around Sebring's rough 5.2-mile layout.

Its speed of 110.5 miles an hour topped that of the Ford GT40s which are expected to give Porsche its biggest fight in the race for points for the world sports car manufacturing championship.

Jacky Ickx, the exciting young Belgian star, and Brian Redman of England hit a peak of 109.85 mph in their fastest lap in one of the Fords entered by the J. W. Engineering firm of England.

The Howmet experimental turbine racer was eighth at 106.12 mph.

Echo Valley Slates Sunday Trap Shoot

The Echo Valley Trap Club will hold a "protection and walk back shoot" on Sunday, from noon until 4 p.m. Competition is open to everyone and opening shooting will be held throughout the day.

Really Sticks To Her Sport!

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Lorraine Crompton of nearby Johnson City bought a bowling ball at a Binghamton store. Three hours later she returned to the store, two of her fingers stuck in the ball.

The manager used olive oil and soap in an unsuccessful effort to dislodge the fingers. A doctor at the Binghamton General Hospital where the 30-year-old woman was taken also failed.

The doctor called the Ebonite Co. of Hopkinsville, Ky., the makers of the bowling ball. They were unable to help.

Then he called in hospital maintenance men who hacked and sawed and chipped the ball until Mrs. Crompton's fingers were freed.

Playoffs In NBA Open Up Tonight

The New York Knicks and the San Francisco Warriors take their first cracks at division champions Philadelphia and St. Louis Friday night as the National Basketball Association playoffs begin.

The Knicks travel to Philadelphia to meet the defending NBA champion 76ers while San Francisco will be at St. Louis, each opening a best-of-7 series between the first and third place teams.

The playoffs between the second and fourth place teams get under way Sunday when Detroit plays at Boston in a televised afternoon contest and Chicago goes to Los Angeles for a night game.

Detroit was the final team to get into the playoffs, defeating Boston 125-116 Wednesday night while New York was eliminating Cincinnati 108-106. The combination gave the Pistons fourth place in the Eastern Division with a 40-42 record.

Cards Defeat Bucs, 4-0

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Hot-hitting Orlando Cepeda homered and doubled Thursday as the St. Louis Cardinals gained their 10th victory in 13 games blanking the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-0.

Cepeda boosted his spring average to .400 with 12 hits in 30 trips, including four home runs. Steve Carlton, who has allowed just two runs in 14 innings, worked five innings. Another southpaw, Hal Gilson, and right-hander Ron Willis finished up.

Dal Maxville also had two hits for the Redbirds but the biggest blow was Roger Maris' two-run double off Jim Bunning in the fifth inning.

Veale Figures Bunning As Help

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Bob Veale expects Jim Bunning to make him a better pitcher, which makes you wonder just how good Veale expects to be.

Without Bunning around to inject his competitiveness, leadership and sound knowledge of pitching, Veale has managed to compile a pretty fair record under his own steam.

In the last four years, the 212-pound southpaw has won 67 games for the Pirates. Only four pitchers in the majors have done better over the period — Juan Marichal, Bob Gibson, Jim Kant and Bunning.

This brought up the natural question as the perspiring, bespectacled Veale took a few minutes from the training grind to talk about his prospects for 1968. How is Bunning going to help Veale?

The 6-foot-6 Veale pondered a moment, then said, "he is a highly competitive athlete both on and off the field. He sets a higher standard for me. Undoubtedly, he'll also take some pressure off me."

"When we go into a city for a series, we should have two big winners ready. If he loses, it should make me more determined to win. Competition between pitchers on a club is good for a club."

Veale says he expects this to be an amazing year for the Pirates. He envisions Bunning, acquired in a winter deal from the Philadelphia Phillies, as a tremendous example for the younger pitchers with his business like attitude toward the game.

Veale says he isn't planning anything new for National League opponents. He'll rely on his stock in trade, the fast ball, slide and curve. His big aim, however is just that — aim. He feels he has to get the ball over the plate more consistently to reach the 20-game status.

"I led the league in walks last season," noted Veale, referring to the 119 free tickets he issued. Veale has walked 464 in those four big seasons, and he is convinced each would have been a 20-game season if he got the ball over the plate.

"I guess I'm just like most left-handers when it comes to control," he said. "We have an unorthodox way of throwing. Everything comes in wrong sided. What is it they say about left handers. They think left-handed."

Veale said he believes a lack of concentration is his problem where control is concerned.

"I'm trying to concentrate more on the job. More concentration should increase my efficiency 20 to 30 percent. I've got to try and get that batter out with fewer pitches, make 'em hit it to somebody. I've got to remember you don't have to strike out every hitter. Concentration is all I need."

Brundage In Hot Water With Internal Revenue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, owes $15,547.59 for 1963 income taxes resulting from a dispute over charitable deductions, U.S. Tax Court papers showed Wednesday.

Brundage filed suit against the Internal Revenue Service, saying the contributions he made were to organizations supported largely by governmental agencies or public donations and he is therefore entitled to take an additional 10 per cent charitable deduction from his income.

Normally, the maximum charitable contribution deduction allowed on income taxes is 20 per cent of an individual's income. But if some of these contributions go to agencies supported substantially—generally, at least one-third—by government agencies or public donations, an additional 10 per cent deduction is permitted.

The largest amount involved is a $293,150 contribution given to the city and county of San Francisco to expand the F.H. DeYoung Memorial Museum.

Brundage is a Chicago hotel man.

Neither Brundage's petition nor the Internal Revenue Service papers outlined the reason for the dispute.

State Attorney General Defends $75,000 Contract

HARRISBURG (AP) — Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett defended Thursday a $75,000 contract with a public relations firm which the Justice Department engaged to prepare a consumer education program.

Sennett told the House Appropriations Committee that the contract, which some Democratic lawmakers have labeled improper, was misrepresented by the news media.

"The inference in some quarters has been that the firm has been hired to 'promote the Bureau of Consumer Protection,'" Sennett said during a hearing on his department's 1968-69 budget request. "This is not true. The contract is...for designing and implementing a badly needed program of information about consumer fraud."

Rep. Franklin L. Kury, D-Northumberland, questioned Sennett closely about the contract and asked why the department's own public information specialist could not undertake the program.

Sennett replied that the recently hired specialist, Paul Zdinak, was kept busy publicizing other facets of the department's activities. The attorney general added that consumer education program contemplated was more than one man could handle.

Of Keisling Associates, Inc., the firm with which the department entered into the controversial contract, Sennett said: "We chose Keisling Associates, Inc., (from among five applicants) because it was felt, after thorough study that its proposal was the best."

Democrats have charged that the firm was hired because its president, William Keisling, was an active worker in the gubernatorial campaign of Gov. Shafer and an aide to former Gov. William W. Scranton.

Sennett presented a budget request of $21.7 million to the committee, representing a $1.9 million increase over current spending. The bulk of the funds sought would be spent to operate the state's correctional institutions.

However, Sennett asked for an increase from $280,578 to $480,069 for the Bureau of Consumer Protection and $165,386 for creation of Office of Criminal Justice.

Kennedy Moves Campaign Into South

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy brought his presidential campaign into the South Thursday and urged Southerners to put behind them the racial controversies in which he was involved as attorney general.

"These quarrels are behind us now," the New York contender for the Democratic presidential nomination said in an address to a University of Alabama audience.

"The quarrels of old now are dwarfed by the more serious issues facing us as Americans," he said.

"Some may seek political gains by pointing to the vain quarrels of the past—but I prefer to look ahead, to see what the real dilemmas are that confront this nation at home and around the world, and to find new ways of meeting these problems," he added.

Calling for national reconciliation, Kennedy laid special emphasis on the Vietnam war, a keystone of his campaign against President Johnson.

"It is easy to see how completely we share the dangers and promises of the world outside our borders," Kennedy said. "But we see that our destinies are also bound together within our country... the problems we face are national problems. The divisions among our citizens do not stop at state boundaries—and neither can our concern."

"The gulf between our people will not be bridged by those who preach violence, or by those who burn and loot. I run for President because I believe such anarchy is intolerable—and I want to do something about it."

Kennedy said he came to Alabama early in his campaign because, "I believe that any who seek high office this year must go before all Americans: Not just those who agree with them, but also those who disagree..."

But here's a poll that does—small survey taken recently by The Associated Press of delegates who attended the 1964 GOP convention.

Of those who responded, most said they hoped to be delegates again. They said they favored Rockefeller over Nixon, 13 to 10. Others said they preferred Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, and former Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania (who made a last minute and unsuccessful effort to wrest the '64 nomination from Barry Goldwater).

Reagan has strong support among Pennsylvanians, incidentally, for vice president—a role some politicians in other states think Shafer would like for himself.

Those who returned ballots tied Reagan to tickets headed by either Rockefeller or Nixon. Two others were for a Rockefeller-Percy team.

It could all turn out to be futile conjecture. Nixon has been collecting positive delegate commitments, much in the Goldwater style, and may be uncatchable by the time August rolls around—especially with the resounding primary votes he is recording.

Shafer, however, diminishes the impact of the primaries, although acknowledging that Rockefeller would be wise to enter some.

"I believe our nominee will be chosen at the convention and not by the primary route alone," says Shafer. And he expects Pennsylvania to be among the kingmakers.

WORTH QUOTING: "Public assistance is a short-term aid, hardly a long-range way of life, as it has become in too many places." — Washington Observer-Reporter.

Co-Chairmen Selected For County Spelling Bee

John Johnson, Sheffield elementary school principal, and David Vennberg, principal Sugar Grove elementary school, are co-chairman of the second annual Warren County 1968 TV Spelling Bee.

The spelling bee is sponsored by the Warren Times-Mirror and Observer and Sheffield Observer. Finalists in both sixth grade contests and junior high school spelling matches go to Erie, Friday, April 5, for spelling down on television over WSEE-TV. The contest will be telecast for broadcast Sunday, April 7, at noon.

Lee Warthman is director of the series of TV spelling bees sponsored over many years by Erie Evening Times and Erie Morning News. In 1967 the first annual Warren County spelling bee was inaugurated.

Sister Romayne, principal, St. Joseph School in Warren, is chairman for the parochial school contests.

Schools and teams are paired as follows, each contest to take place at first named school: Lincoln vs. Sheffield, Lander vs. Sugar Grove, North Warren vs. Russell, Irvinedale vs. Scandia, McClintock vs. Pleasant Township, Home St. vs. Jefferson, South St. vs. Lacy, Youngsville vs. Market St., Irvine vs. Pittsfield, Tidoute vs. Starbrick.

Spelling bees will be held during the week of March 25. Day for competition is chosen by mutual agreement of competing schools.

It is expected groups from sixth grades who are not on actual teams will attend the spelling bees to root for their home school team.

As in previous contests, the plan is "two mistakes and out" for elimination. When only two contestants remain standing, after a mistake the opponent correctly spells a new word, plus an additional word.

Winners at the Warren County final spelling bee at Erie over WSEE-TV will go on to Pittsburgh for Pennsylvania finals. Winners there will compete for national champion in Washington, D.C.

Edinboro State College Seeks University Status

Edinboro State College is seeking university status. Representative Forest Hopkins of North East, Pa., introduced a bill in the State Legislature this week. Other sponsors are Representatives Wendell Good, R. Budd Dwyer, Stanley Blair, Robert Bellomini and Frank Polaski.

Because of the strategic location of Edinboro State College, it will definitely fill the need for a university in Northwestern Pennsylvania. Since Dr. Chester T. McNerney took over the leadership of the College in September 1966, facilities have been updated to meet the guidelines set by the Department of Public Instruction.

Edinboro's library, faculty, student body and other facilities now measure up to University requirements. The percentage of doctorates in the faculty will meet requirements in September 1968. University status would make a greater degree of graduate work possible and fill a dire need for requests in this area.

The academic standing of the student body has definitely improved. There have been to date 5800 admission inquiries which have resulted in 4000 applications. Of students accepted the college board averages are 506 in verbal and 517 in math. Class rank of students accepted run 69 per cent in the first 5th of their class; 23 per cent in the second fifth; 7 per cent the third fifth and 1 per cent the 4th fifth.

Applications and acceptances at the off campuses of Warren and Shenango are considerably greater than last year. Acceptances are up 35 per cent at Warren with total applications up 40 per cent. Acceptances are up 27 per cent at Shenango with total applications up 30 per cent.

A bill is also in the Legislature to change the name of Edinboro State College to Northwestern Pennsylvania State University when approval for the new status of the College is obtained.

The enrollment at the college is 5200 students with a projected expansion of 7,000 by 1970.

Another sign of Spring—two more flocks of geese were seen by a local resident from the Fifth Avenue bridge at noon Thursday. They were headed north up Conewango Creek.

John Powley Named 'Man of the Year'

John Powley, 224 Main ave., has been named Nationwide Insurance's "Man of the Year" in the Erie Sales Region which embraces a 17-county area.

The annual award is given for excellence in sales and services during the past calendar year. Powley won the award in competition with 225 other Nationwide agents in the sales region. An engraved plaque will be presented to Powley in recognition of his achievement.

Powley has been in the insurance business here for the past 24 years and has been a Nationwide agent since 1942. He maintains his office at 301 Pennsylvania ave. W.

$11.8 Million Plan For Airport Expansion

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Allegheny County commissioner gave approval Thursday to an $11.8 million plan for expansion of passenger loading and parking space at Greater Pittsburgh Airport.

The plan would double parking space and the number of gates, enabling the airport to handle increased traffic expected when the 400-passenger Boeing 747s begin using the airport in 1970. The expansion plan submitted earlier this week called for elimination of the fountains and mall fronting the air terminal.

Two State Communities Fight Highways

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Residents from two communities banded together Thursday to fight superhighways threatening their homes and challenged Gov. Shafer to halt all highway construction until they can talk to him.

Attorney Nathan Schwartz said the organization will try to "prevent indiscriminate bulldozing of entire neighborhoods and to obtain more humane replacement and relocation for highway refugees."

Schwartz said the organization — 10,000 strong — was composed of people living in the paths of the East Street Expressway in Pittsburgh and the Allegheny Valley Expressway in Tarentum. They'll be known as HEART, for Highway Emergency and Relocation Team.

The residents have been complaining individually and in small groups that the state doesn't make adequate provision for people who must find new homes to make room for highways.

Schwartz said HEART will fight for a citizens advisory committee to confer periodically with the state Highways Department and for expanded relocation services.

County Receives Gift Of Recreation Land

PRESENTATION OF DEED

Warren County on Thursday were presented with five acres of prime recreational land in Elk township by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stewart of Akeley, with the understanding the gift be perpetual maintained for the county's residents and its recreational guests. The land will be converted into a county park and picnic area to be known as Hemlock Park. Presentation of the deed, free from title objections and free of cost, was made in the commissioner's office. Pictured from left, Thomas J. Donnelly, Mrs. Stewart, John Stewart, Dr. David K. Rice, William Rusin, planning director and Blain M. Mead. The commissioners accepted the generous gift with deepest appreciation. (Photo by Mansfield)

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stewart of Akeley on Thursday handed over the deed, free of cost, of a small tract of land in prime recreation territory west of the Allegheny Reservoir in Elk township, to the Warren County Commissioners.

In accepting the gift of five acres of level land adjacent to LR 61039, about one mile from Blueberry Hill golf course and four miles from the reservoir waters, agreed the county would in perpetuity devote the area, to be named Hemlock Park, for the benefit of the county's residents and its recreational guests.

The acreage has been carefully preserved by its owners for more than 20 years in its natural state without any form of commercial exploitation. Planning director William Rusin presented tentative plans for development of the site which would include a parking lot adjacent to LR 61039 and a picnic area.

Eyed are 25 picnic tables which could be reached by a series of trails covered with six inch wood chips. Rusin advised that 12 picnic tables could probably be installed this year. It is planned eventually to add 25 fire places, one for each proposed table.

The county would also convert an existing lane into a service road, one way in or out.

The commissioners propose to ask Elk township supervisors to take care of maintenance at Hemlock Park.

The plot has hemlock trees in various growth stages, some black cherry, oak and maple. Work is expected to get under way as soon as weather permits.

In other business the commissioners approved payment of bills in the amount of $5,810.59.

It was also announced the voting place for Brokenstraw Township 11 has been moved to the new elementary school building in Youngsville. The former structure will be advertised for bids. The commissioners are also planning to increase the number of parking spaces at the court house, a move recommended by numerous grand juries.

The wrought iron fence and one tree west of the court house will be removed and additional parking incorporated in that section of lawn.

Hospitalized After Crash

A 20-year-old Warren man was admitted to Warren General Hospital with head injuries suffered in a one-car crash Wednesday night.

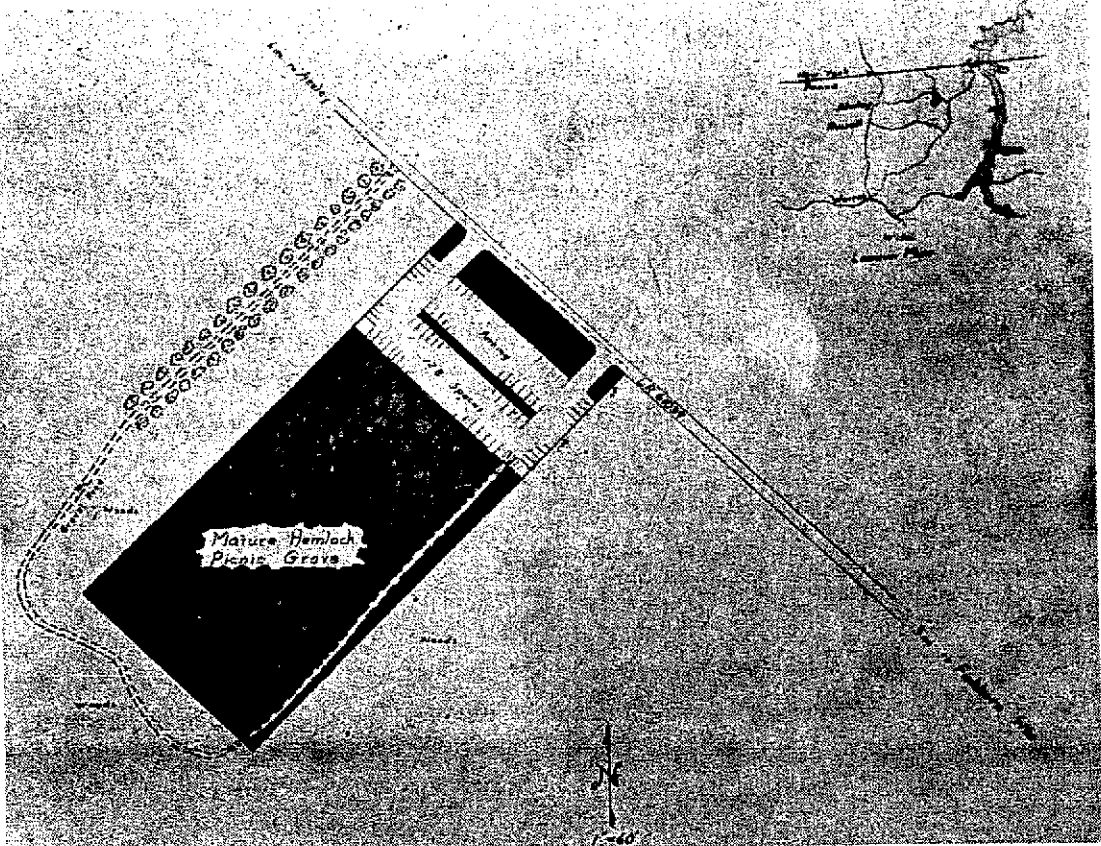

State Police Trooper Dennis Hoak, who investigated the 11:05 p.m. accident on Dorcon road, said a car driven by Lawrence K. Rosenquist, of 204 Falconer st., was traveling west when it met another vehicle at the crest of a grade.

Rosenquist, Hoak stated, swerved to the north berm, struck six guard posts, traveled 185 feet across a clearing, over an 18 foot bank and into an oil well.

Damage was listed at $2,500, police stated.

ACS Speaker

Dr. Henry A. Bent, University of Minnesota, will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Penn-York section of the American Chemical Society to be held March 26 at Cranston Hall, State University College, Fredonia, N.Y. Dr. Bent's topic will be "A New Look at Some Old Concepts in Structural Chemistry." Dinner for members and their guests will be at 6:30 p.m. with the program which is open to the public being presented at 8 p.m.

PRELIMINARY PLANS FOR PARK

Preliminary plans have been presented to create a five-acre county park and picnic area on a plot of land presented the county by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stewart of Akeley. To be called Hemlock Park, the Elk township facility will eventually have 25 picnic tables and fireplaces and its own parking lot. Located on LR 61039 it is one mile from Blueberry Hill golf course and four miles west of Allegheny Reservoir. The 123 parking spaces will be separated by a grove of white pine. Future plans are to make an existing lane into a gravelled service road, one way in and out. A series of trails to the tables are also contemplated. (Photo by Mansfield)

Shafer Declares Nixon Is Only Serious Candidate

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer said Thursday he could see no candidate who would be willing at this time to contest former Vice president Richard M. Nixon for the Republican Presidential nomination.

"He's the only serious candidate," Shafer said of Nixon after New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller announced he would not directly or indirectly campaign for the nomination.

"I don't see any individual who indicates a desire to get into the contest," Shafer said.

Shafer, however, stopped short of conceding Nixon the party's nomination.

"The winds of politics change rapidly," he said. "Any number of events could take place between now and August which could change the picture."

"Gov. (Ronald) Reagan of California and Sen. (Charles) Percy of Illinois are still being mentioned in some quarters, and I don't think you can rule them out or anyone else out at this stage."

Shafer refused to say whether he personally would have liked Rockefeller to make a race of it with Nixon.

"As a favorite son candidate, I had no personal preference on that," he replied to a question.

"I have repeatedly said that Mr. Nixon was stronger (than Rockefeller) with the party leaders. I believe Gov. Rockefeller should be commended for his desire to have unity this year with in the Republican Party."

For the moment, Shafer refused to alter his favorite-son position, which is intended to keep the 64-man Pennsylvania delegation to the national convention uncommitted.

However, he conceded:

"If conditions are still the same, if only one person is mentioned for the nomination, I would say there would be no necessity for this."

Shafer said Nixon could be enthusiastically supported by Pennsylvania Republicans and could still carry the state regardless of who becomes the Democratic candidate.

He indicated the final assessment on whether he should remain a favorite son would not be made until convention time in August.

Shafer called Nixon "an outstanding leader" who would make a "formidable and excellent candidate."

The Pennsylvania chief executive joined with Rockefeller in stating that the Republican Party must draft a national platform which would offer constructive alternatives to the Johnson Administration.

He called Vietnam the "over-riding issue of the campaign" and declared: "I believe a new leader in Washington would give the people the opportunity to be more responsive on what exactly the role of the United States in this world should be."

He also repeated that the 26 Republican governors should be represented among the hierarchy of the platform committee, but indicated he had no personal call on the post, Shafer said.

"I would have no objections to any of the Republican governors so long as we are represented in drafting the kind of platform that can be of great assistance to our candidate in galvanizing the American people."

Shafer had been advanced by the GOP governors for the platform committee, a fact Rockefeller noted in his New York news conference.

THE COMMUNITY SERVICE DEPARTMENT of the Woman's Club will hear David Swanson, a native of Ludlow and Warren attorney, speak on a matter of great interest to most people in Warren: "Zoning Concerning Warren County." Mr. Swanson has been a member of the Zoning Commission since its inception . . . He is a graduate of Yale Law School, and also pursued undergraduate studies at The Pennsylvania State University. Hostess chairman for the 2 o'clock meeting is Mrs. E. S. Brady of Tidoute.

STORYTELLING SPECIALIST Teresa M. Toscano, native of Warren, now associated with the Free Library of Philadelphia, will be featured on Channel 12, today (WHYY-TV) at 1:30 p.m. in the Story Corner. She will tell "The Story of Thorn Rose," and "Sleeping Beauty" from Grimm's Fairy Tales. Tuesday, April 2nd at the same hour her story will be an Italian folk tale "The Magic Box" on the program TV-Bookshelf. Both presentations are language arts programs for children in the tri-state area, produced by the Philadelphia Board of Education in cooperation with the Free Library of Philadelphia. Mrs. Toscano, who lives at 19 W. Rambler Drive, Holland, Penna., is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Fino of 224 Onondaga avenue.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last night we went to a dinner party at the home of new friends. There were five couples present and two big dogs.

During cocktails the dogs roamed around the living room, sniffing the guests and occasionally snatching a small frankfurter from the hors d'oeuvre tray. The hostess saw all this and never said a word.

When dinner was served the dogs came right into the dining room and then the battle started. They poked their heads under our arms trying to get at the roast beef. They yelped and cried and we couldn't even carry on a conversation. The host waded the bigger dog away when he nearly snatched the meat off my plate. His wife said meekly, "Jim, perhaps you should take the dogs out?" He answered, "No, they'd feel hurt."

I looked at my husband and he was furious. The host sensed our feelings and said, in jest (but I'm sure he meant it) "Anyone who doesn't like dogs is not to be trusted."

Please print this letter and your opinion. — DOG GONED

DEAR GONED: I hope you and your husband never get so hungry that you will accept another invitation at that kennel. The host and hostess were unbelievably inconsiderate of their guests and I am unable to say a single word in their defense.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I divorced a dull but decent man for Mr. K. and gave up my young son to do it. Mr. K. promised to divorce his wife "when the time was right." In the meantime, he spent weekends with me, we took trips together, he introduced me to his business associates in other cities as "Mrs. K.," and he gave me open charge accounts all over town. This man was the center of my existence for four and a half years.

Last week he informed me that it's all over. He gave no reason. Just over. He has removed all his belongings from my apartment and, from what I gather, he is at home full time.

What are my rights in court? Surely I have something coming for my time and trouble. Advise, please. — THE REJECT

DEAR RE: I agree . . . you have something coming, and it sounds like you are getting it.

Since I am not a lawyer I cannot inform you of your "rights." I can say a few words about your wrongs, however. You made a bad bargain from the beginning and I am sorry for you. Regardless of what you might be able to squeeze out of this man, you are still the big loser. But this is how such affairs usually end. It's par for the course, Honey.

Philomel Club Program On Music's Tonal Qualities

At the Philomel Club meeting on Wednesday afternoon, March 20, in the Woman's Club, Mrs. Knox Harper, chairman of the program entitled "Major and Minor Modes", explained that mode in the widest sense denotes the selection of tones, arranged in scales which form the tonal substance of a composition.

Illustrating the theme, Mrs. Harry Drivas presented three songs, all in a major key: "When Children Pray" by Beatrice Fenner, "I Heard a Forest Praying" by Peter de Rose, and "Unforeseen" by Cyril Scott. Mrs. James Potter was piano accompanist.

Mrs. Ronald Simonsen, newest performing member of Philomel Club, joined Mrs. Fredrick Olson in a violin duet, "Duo Concertant" by Charles de Berlioz.

Concluding the program, Mrs. James Potter was the piano soloist in "Concerto in A Major", by Mozart, and Mrs. Joseph DeFrees presented the orchestral accompaniment on the second piano.

Mrs. Beyer Africa outlined in detail plans for the Philomel sponsored bus trip to Buffalo on March 31 for the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra Concert in which the famous Igor Stravinsky will appear.

The bus will leave Market Street Plaza promptly at eleven o'clock. On the return trip a Smorgasbord dinner will be served at Lakeview Hotel.

Sixty members remained for the social hour after the program. Mrs. Robert Trusler, hostess chairman, had an arrangement of snapdragons, chrysanthemums, ferns, and green grapes in a ceramic figurine vase for the table centerpiece, with pink candles in figurine holders. Mrs. Charles Tranter and Mrs. Harold Johnson presided.

Other members of the hostess committee included Mrs. William Ball, Mrs. Shurl Glass, Mrs. Meredith Glnader, Mrs. J. S. Bayer, Miss Ethel Goal, Mrs. James Holmberg, Mrs. Clarence Pearson, Mrs. Richard Rapp, Mrs. John D. McFate, and Mrs. W. J. Seiffe.

In Africa primitive tribes have been reluctant to give up their chiefs. Chiefs often are regarded as holy figures embodying the spirit of the tribe.

Blue Stocking Club Meets At Mrs. N. Johnson's Home

Mrs. Norman Johnson and Mrs. Arthur Lydell entertained members of the Blue Stocking Club at the Johnson home recently. Mrs. James Cousins, club president, presided at the brief business meeting, after which Mrs. John Reddick, program chairman, introduced the afternoon speaker, Mrs. L. W. Hull.

Mrs. Hull reviewed the book "The Abilites Story" by Henry Viscardi Jr.

Presiding at a tea table, which was centered with an arrangement of daffodils and forsythia, were Mrs. O. C. Tritt and Mrs. M. L. Satterlund.

Eleven Attend Beathea Circle

Eleven members of the Beathea Circle of Epworth Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. John Anderson, 10 North Marion street, for a one o'clock luncheon. Mrs. Alfred Johnson was the co-hostess.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Ivan Porter; Mrs. Clarence Heald had devotions.

The April meeting will be an all-day affair, held one week earlier than usual because of Holy Week. Hostesses will be Mrs. Bruce Jones and Mrs. Fred Baldensperger.

Members worked on a sewing project during the social portion of the afternoon.

One of the first public buildings in Washington, D.C., was the old Patent Office on which construction was begun in 1856.

Opening lead: Four of ♠
In selecting a lead against South's first heart contract, West first reviewed the auction. Inasmuch as South had shown a two suited hand and North had supported hearts originally, it appeared probable that the declarer would endeavor to use the dummy's trumps to ruff out his club losers.

In order to inhibit the establishment of the club suit, West opened a trump, selecting the four as his lead. Declarer played low from dummy and East put up the queen which held the trick. A heart was returned to West's ace and the latter cleared North's trump holding on the next round.

Declarer tried to split out the clubs, however, the suit did not divide favorably and he ended up losing two clubs and two hearts for a one trick setback.

Had West led anything but a heart, South would have been able to ruff at least one club in dummy, and if East is allowed to overruff the nine of hearts with the queen and then returns a trump—the defense is limited to three tricks, two hearts and one club.

Despite West's sharp performance, South was in position to nip the rally in the bud, by putting up the king of hearts at trick one. This play enables the declarer to seize the initiative, for he can now cash the two top clubs and ruff a third round in dummy. East overruffs with the queen, however, he is out of trumps and when South regains the lead he is able to ruff a fourth club with impunity and thereby establish that suit. His losses are restricted to two trump tricks on the deal.

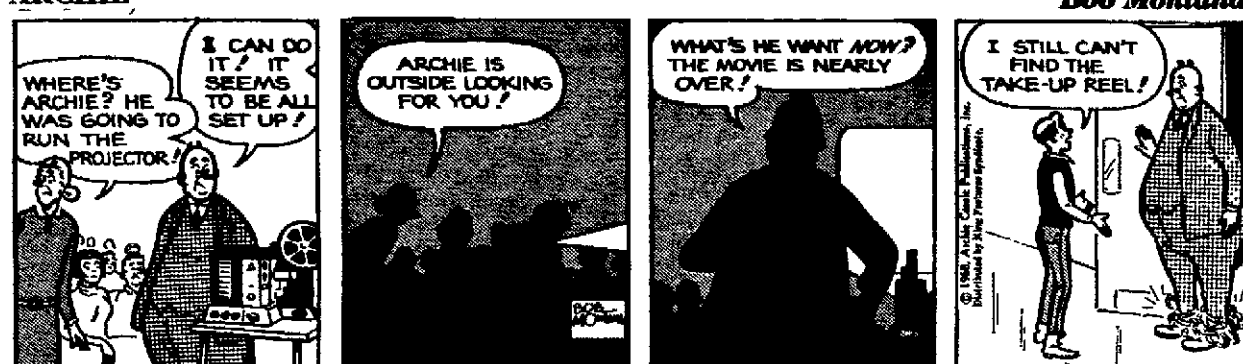

The suggested play of the king of hearts has a logical motivation and is not merely based on a post-mortem examination of all four hands. Declarer should make his best effort to win the first trick in order to gain control of the proceedings, and besides if West does have a high honor in trumps, it is more apt to be the ace than the queen. The reasoning is rather obvious—he can never lose the ace of trumps, whereas a lead away from the queen might cost him a potential trick.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 22, 1968.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—A notable day for presenting new ideas; also old ones carefully treated to get the most good still left in them. Your talents should shine now.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Excellent Venus influences. Especially favored: Artistic matters, home and family concerns, romance. Display your ingenuity.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Day is mostly up to you—whether you have much to accomplish or have less to do and can truly "take it easy." Go over affairs carefully, then decide how to proceed.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—"Truth crushed to earth shall rise again," always does—so bide your time, as you act wisely, compassionately toward all. A good day for good deeds.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Adversity is not without some comforts, and though you may be opposed in certain areas, you can gain knowledge and new experience from this. Be calm; gains are in the offing.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Slow your pace if you should, quicken it where reasonable. You may have to cooperate with someone quite unexpectedly; don't show displeasure, if it may help the total good.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—New advances for endeavors that have been under way for some time. Stand firm on principles.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Readiness to adapt to duties and those "extras" that do not always please but MUST be handled will be key to day's success. Marshal your fine forces early.

SAGITTARIUS (November 24 to December 21)—You may trip over little matters if not watchful. Have patience and the "vagueness" or seeming inconsistency of things will clear. Manage tactfully.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—A tailor-made day for you and your talents. You may face some "tight" situations, and anxious persons may vex, but if you remain serene, you can handle all well.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—This day is a "plum" for those of you who have the right slant and get after essentials promptly, hopefully enthusiastic—all that most matters need!

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—If you are on the ball, eager to achieve in the best ways available, and to MAKE opportunity where it is lacking, you will open new doors to delightful gains.

YOU BORN TODAY: Seldom can anything keep you down for long. You have the wonderful ability to rise above opposition and face obstacles with equanimity. Don't begin a project before you find out whether it is worthwhile. In other words, don't act, THEN think. Your abilities are too fine to be wasted. Your plans are usually sound in theory, and you do not hesitate to back them, making your point strongly. Birthdate of: Anthony Van Dyck, Flemish painter.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

GOOD MENTAL HEALTH

Mental health is concerned with how a person feels, thinks, and behaves. Persons who are mentally healthy can handle minor daily tensions and crises in stride even though these situations often involve moments of anger, fear, depression, and distrust. Such individuals are well-adjusted in contrast to the mentally ill who are emotionally disturbed and worry-bound.

The foundations of mental health are laid in early childhood. The infant is totally dependent and thrives on love and a sense of security. Babies require warm close contact. Toddlers need to explore their world. By so doing, the child learns how he can win approval and develop self-confidence. Belittling his achievements or overprotecting him makes the tyke feel inferior and helpless.

The world is full of restrictions that must be obeyed if we are to live happy, social lives. Success along this line depends upon the ability of the parents to impose realistic limitations in childhood. Discipline should be intermingled with basic love. Restrictions without love can be harsh and insensitive.

School activities are the child's first contact outside the home. Socializing is important to his future. Over-assertive children need constructive outlets; the timid tyke needs to develop self-confidence. Each must grow up in order to acquire self-reliance. During the adolescent years, the adult-to-be learns to deal with problems of dating, school, and plans for the future.

Dating should be allowed but the adolescent needs self-control to avoid degeneration into sexual delinquency. Close family ties are a must. His "wanting to belong."

is important and must be understood. College usually means being away from home. It also involves learning to accept responsibility for success or failure and setting sensible goals.

Tensions of a major force enter the picture when the individual begins to work. The job should be interesting, satisfying and suited to his capabilities.

TOMORROW: Guinea-worm Arthritis. Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

CAUSES OF ATROPHY
P. B. writes: What causes atrophy? My husband's left leg is atrophied and he is unable to walk without pain in the hip.

REPLY
Atrophy refers to a weakness and wasting of the muscle. It occurs as a result of disuse, such as when the limb is in a cast or cannot be moved because of a pinched, severed, or inflamed nerve. Your husband may have arthritis of the hip or sciatica.

TONSIL INFECTION IN OLDSTER
A reader writes: Can the tonsils of an elderly person become infected?

REPLY
Yes. The tonsils tend to shrink with age but do not provide total immunity to infection even the tonsillitis is less likely to occur than in youngsters.

LACK OF CALCIUM
A reader writes: What are the symptoms of a calcium deficiency?

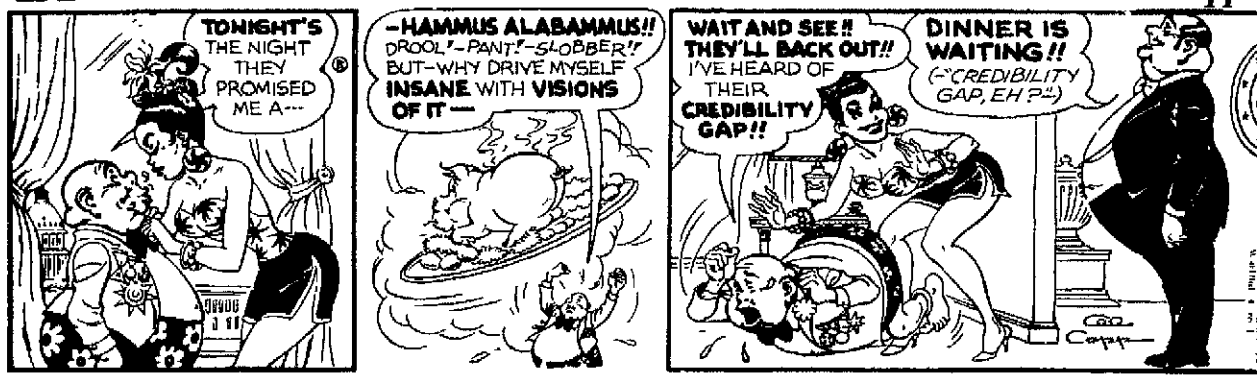

REPLY
In this condition the victim suffers from attacks of painful muscle spasm (tetany).

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT—Use a step stool to reach objects on a high shelf.

Lions Club Helps Boosters

Ronnie Weller, president of the Lions Club, presented a check for $250 to the Music Boosters Club to be used for band uniforms, at the Club's dinner meeting, Tuesday, March 19. Accepting the check for the Boosters were Mrs. Robert E. Anderson, president, and Mrs. William Johnson, secretary.

The Lions earned the money in two basketball games which they played with the Warren Lawmen and Youngsville Sports Boosters. Twenty Lions participated in the games which were coached by Lion Charles Caughlin.

Other officers of the Music Boosters are Mrs. Fred Amos, vice-pres., and Mrs. John Stewart, Sr., treasurer. The Band which consists of 38 junior and senior high school students is directed by James Bodamer, school music director.

During the past year, and thus far in 1968, the Lions have furnished glasses for two persons in the area, and sponsored our first sight conservation program for pre-school children from three to six years. The eyes of 42 children were checked last month and as a result there were five referrals for needed treatment.

Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club Discuss Fish Tourney

Due to the lack of a quorum, the Area Chamber of Commerce did not conduct its regular meeting Tuesday night. In attendance with the four Chamber members, were Tom Walsh and Herman Knight, Jr., of the Lions Club, James Summerton, representing the Methodist Church and this reporter.

The Lions were there to discuss plans for entertainment for the 1968 Penna. Fish Tournament, Tom Walsh, Lion Secretary, and parade director last year, which the club sponsored, presented a 5-page brochure which he had compiled since last year's parade, to point out the difficulties and lack of cooperation which he encountered.

He said he felt that too few local organizations and businesses showed an interest in the parade . . . that more people would need to help if the parade is to be continued as a tourney feature.

To prove his point, Walsh included a letter which he mailed to 70 businesses and organizations last year, asking for cooperation. He included a form to be returned to him. From these 70 letters, he received just 15 answers by mail and 10 by word-of-mouth. This he felt was a genuine lack of interest. Only 15 participated in the parade.

He then contacted by phone 14 high school bands; five professional bands; five miscellaneous units and three special attractions. As a result of these 37 calls Walsh secured just five who participated.

Walsh gave these personal impressions of the parade situation: A. There is not enough money available for prizes. The cost of some floats is in excess of the prize offered. People are interested in making money. Many bands not only want to compete for prizes but also require money for bus mileage. B. The people of the community are tiring of the same theme and have proved indifferent to planning to participate until the last minute. C. There is very little for townspeople, or visitors to do during the afternoons of the tournament. People leave Tidioute with a poor impression of community spirit. Eating booths, although necessary, do not fill the requirements for creating interesting and entertaining experience for visitors or townspeople. D. There is a lack of sufficient advertising but at present there is very little to advertise. It cannot be done with a couple of newspaper articles a week or two before the start of the tournament. For the time being, advertising should be heavily concentrated in Northwestern Pennsylvania. E. There is a need to make long range plans for the parade and the tournament. The following points must be considered in this planning:

1. Incorporation of the name of the tournament.
2. Cooperation with the Warren County Chamber of Commerce.
3. Establishment of a method of funding which will permit reinvestment in the parade, tournament, and also will permit improvements and additions to what are considered to be the favorite attractions.

When an organization as able and willing to take over the responsibility of the tourney parade as the Lions Club, has met with such apathy on the part of our local citizenry, we rather wonder that it is still willing to sponsor another parade. But these men are not ones to cry "Uncle," they still have hopes that Tidioute will respond with like enthusiasm.

Both our business people and organizations depend in varying degrees upon the influx of summer people, the hunters and fishermen. Certainly just once during the year, when we are hosts to a State Tourney, we could forget our money making, or penny pinching, and go all out to insure the good will of our guests and make it such a fine place to visit that they will return again and again.

If each of us will give a little, instead of sitting back criticizing the few who have worked long and hard for the past seven years, the 8th annual Fish Tourney can go on record as a 100 percent effort to show our guests what Tidioute can do when it gets its shoulder to the wheel . . . Will your shoulder be there?

VFW Banquet Well Attended

A capacity crowd of VFW and Womens Auxiliary, Post 8803, and guests attended the annual banquet held at K's Inn, Wednesday, March 20, at 6:45 p.m.

Eugene Manfrey, Warren, senior vice commander, of Pennsylvania, speaker of the evening, stressed services and policies to be kept in mind by all veterans.

George Tipton, commander, Post 8803 presented the following guests: Mrs. Manfrey; Helen Ragan, Aux. District 19, president, Oil City; Northwestern County Commander James Blum and Mrs. Blum, Irvine; Past District 19 Commander Howard McKay and Mrs. McKay, past District 19 Aux. president, Brockton, Pa. Also Paul Wingert, Oil City; Clarence Miller, national service advocate, Dads of Foreign Service Veterans, Lakewood, Ohio; William Karns, Warren County Veterans director, also a past commander, Post 8803; Dalton Hunter and Paul Thomas, past commander, Post 8803; and Mrs. Joan Kane, Post 8803 Aux. commander.

Bill Cyphert Home From Viet

Sp.4, William K. Cyphert, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Cyphert, 216 Main st., arrived home Sunday, March 17, from a year's tour of duty in Vietnam. After a 30-day leave he will report to Ft. Lewis, Washington, on April 19.

Cyphert, who was the only one in C Company, 87th Infantry, 92 MP Battalion, to be given leave at the time, was escorted by jeep, with armed escort, to Blen Hoa, his place of departure.

He has lived in a tent for the past year, and recently was stationed in the much besieged Saigon area. Along with the constant lookout for the enemy, Cyphert said his outfit's biggest problem was lack of water since it was frequently shut off.

Senior Class Play Tonight

The senior play, "Quit Your Kidding," had its first show with a matinee this Thursday afternoon. Tonight, Friday, it is being staged at 8 p. m.

Miss Felicia Passaro is the coach with Eugene Szul doing the stage directing.

Cast members and parts being played are: Barbara Cook, Mrs. Buford; Steve Atkin, Winnie; Janice McGraw, Blinnie; Rosemary Barton, Evelyn; Cheryl Bosko, Betty; Laurie Alberth, Jean; Fritz Anderson, Spike; Max Anderson, Mel.

Also: Tim Gerus, Tom; Edward Ziegler, Jim; Susan Barton, Camilla; and Harriet Amos, Aunt Sophrina, the wealthy aunt, around whom the plot is woven.

Some 1,400,000 Americans now alive have been cured of cancer, the American Cancer Society reports.

Fortnightly Date Night

The 14 Fortnightly club members and nine husbands who traveled to the Colonel Drake Hotel Monday night for the annual Date Night dinner, were entertained with a half hour musical program followed by an illustrated slide talk.

Participating in the musical numbers were Mrs. Virgil McCauley, who played the piano and rendered vocal numbers; Mr. Marion Dinsmoor, who played the bones, and Mrs. James Schaufner, who gave a short organ recital. All were from Pleasantville.

Ronald Kerr, of Centerville, who spent 22 days in a People To People Tour recently, gave an illustrated talk on farming in rural countries of Europe including those behind the Iron Curtain. He used slides of pictures he took on the tour.

The next meeting of the Club will be Monday, April 1, at the home of Mrs. Ronnie Weller. Mrs. Weller will give an illustrated talk on hair coloring. Assisting her as hostesses will be: Mrs. Calvin Montgomery and Mrs. Kenneth Williams.

Town Meeting Called for April

A town meeting to consider the interests of those in the Allegheny river area below the Kinzua Dam, will be held Sat. April 27 at 3 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Main speaker will be Vernon T. Houghton Jr., supervisory hydrologist, Federal - State Flood Forecasting Service, Weather Bureau Office, Pittsburgh, Pa.

James King, Area Chamber of Commerce representative of the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau, in charge of the meeting, says he hopes to be able to arrange a dinner in the school cafeteria following the meeting.

Much interest and a large turnout is anticipated here, since a similar meeting held in Tionesta last year drew an audience of over 200.

Afternoon Circle Cleans Kitchen

In spite of a dark, drippy Wednesday, the Afternoon Circle of WSCS turned out en masse and gave the Methodist Church kitchen its annual spring cleaning this week.

Arrangements for the cleaning were made at the Circle's last meeting at the home of Mrs. Bernard King on Wed. March 13 at 1:30 p.m. Also planned were refreshments for the WSCS meeting at the church on April 2, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Wm. Karns, vice chairman had charge of the March 13 meeting with Mrs. Maurice McCarthy conducting the program on "The Identity of Joy." Mrs. Elliott Lanning is to be hostess for the Wed. April 10, meeting.

Lights . . . Camera . . . Action In Pennsylvania!

Al Kruper likes to take pictures. And he takes good pictures. So he's making a good living as a commercial photographer in Pennsylvania. His sensitive eye found him a pretty wife in Pennsylvania, and they live in a pretty house overlooking a pretty lake.

If Al had decided to be a doctor, a carpenter, a teacher or a salesman . . . he could be that, too . . . and successfully. There are all kinds of jobs for all kinds of people in Pennsylvania. And schools . . . fine schools . . . to develop individual skills.

Al Kruper could be anything he wanted to be. And he still would have found that pretty wife. There are lots of pretty girls in Pennsylvania . . . and lots of pretty places to live. Get the picture?

Butt also attended David and Elkins College, West Virginia, and is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon. His wife, Jean, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Hayes of 425 Richwood ave., Morgantown, West Virginia.

Russell Notes

The Friendship Club members were entertained at the home of Mrs. Scott Phillips with 8 members in attendance. A pleasant evening was spent and the hostess served refreshments.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Ralph Way on March 29 with a 1 o'clock tureen. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Briggs have returned home from Erie where they spent a couple of weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Young.

Mrs. Minnie Young is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Young in Emporium.

A screed is a long, noisy tiresome speech or argumentative paper.

If you think staying in school is tough, listen to someone who quit.

"I started out just cutting classes. And at first it was a lot of fun. There's only one trouble. The jobs that kids who quit school can get only pay about $50 or $60 a week. With no chance of promotion. But just imagine you were a boss. Who would you promote? Drop-outs? Or people with education? So I pulled myself together. Went back to class full time. And finished school. I can't say I had a ball. But a couple of hard years in school are a lot better than a long hard life without it."

VIVIAN MUNERA
 Based on an interview taped April 8, 1967

To get a good job, you need a good education. So if you're in school, stay there. If you've quit, find out how to get more training. See your State Employment Service or Youth Opportunity Center.

Allegheny Airlines reported a $697,000 loss for 1967, but predicted a break-even operation or a "modest profit" this year, including results of Lake Central Airlines, to be acquired by Allegheny.

Last year's loss followed a profit of $1,042,000, or 58 cents a share, in 1966. It came despite an increase in revenue to $52,329,000 from $43,376,000 in 1966.

In the fourth quarter, Allegheny had an indicated loss of $194,000, compared with indicated net of $68,000, or 5 cents a share, in the final quarter of 1966. Indicated revenue rose to $14,811,000 from $11,502,000. The indicated figures were obtained by subtracting nine-month results from full-year figures.

Leslie O. Barnes, president, told the Washington Society of Investment Analysts that expected profit for 1968 should offset the loss by Lake Central prior to the acquisition of Lake Central. Target date for the takeover is June 1. Lake Central had a loss of $3,158,948 in the NEW YORK (AP)—An uneasy stock market took another loss Thursday and the closely watched Dow Jones industrial average dropped to a new low for 1968. Trading was moderate.

The heating up of the Israeli-Jordan hostilities renewed efforts from France to stir up the gold controversy and news of British competition from Britain in the computer business were items that hurt the market.

Beyond this was the absence of any encouraging news to spur an advance which got under way in the morning but soon faded in the disquieting atmosphere with its overtones of deflation.

The international oil stocks

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 1.9 to 299.9, with industrials off 3.4, rails off .9 and utilities off .6 to a new low for 1967-68.

Eastern Air Lines, off $1\frac{1}{4}$ at 27 $\frac{3}{8}$ on 295,000 shares, was the most active stock, thanks mainly to a single block of 264,300 shares.

Twelve of the 15 most active issues fell, 2 rose, and Evans Products was unchanged.

The New York Stock Exchange index fell 36 cents to $49.04.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange dropped in slow trading. Volume was 2.6 million shares compared with 2.49 mil-shares compared with 2.49 million Wednesday. The exchange's index lost 23 cents at $22.08.

The Dow Jones industrial average declined 5.72 to 825.13, breaking through the previous closing low of 827.03 made March 5.

Volume rose to 8.58 million shares from 7.39 million Thurs. day.

Of 1,468 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 855 declined, and 353 advanced. New 1967-68 highs totaled 10 and new lows 51.
